The bark Chehalis, which returned this week from the Orient was nine months in making the round trip to the port of Nakanwell.

Mrs. E. E. Hayes was called to Coquille this week by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Brown is an invalid and had a sudden relapse.

Mayor L. J. Simpson and wife have returned from a brief outing at Sunset Bay where they also inspected the work on their handsome new summer home.

A number of new boxes have been added to the North Bend postoffice to accommodate the increasing demand. The postoffice has otherwise been decorated and improved, giving Postmaster Russell almost metropolitan quarters.

SOCIETY EVENTS

Mrs. and Mrs. Tom James of North Bend entertained Monday evening in honor of W. H. Jobs of Portland. Cards and music were the diversions. Among those who enjoyed, Mr. and Mrs. James delightful hospitality were Misses Painter, Helm, Mandigo and Brigham and Mrs. Farringer and Messrs. Courtney, Fred Painter, Warren Painter and W. H. Jobs.

The Baptist's Young People's Union held an enjoyable session with Claude Stutsman at the R. O. Stutsman home last evening, about fifty being present. A brief business session was held during which missionary work was discussed and also means of increasing the local organization's contribution towards the support of Bible instructors in foreign lands. Following this, Vince Pratt favored the audience with some pleasing vocal selections, and others contributed instrumental selections. This was followed by games and refreshments.

NEW BUSINESS LOCATIONS

Several New Stores Will Be Opened Here Within Few Days.

Considerable activity in business lines will mark the next few weeks on Coos Bay, the opening of new stores and moving into new retail locations being a feature of it. Two factors in it will be the completion and occupancy of the new Coos building and the new building of the First Trust and Savings bank.

It was announced today that Messrs. Lea and Frye of Portland, had just closed a contract for one of the rooms in the new Coos building and will shortly occupy it with a fine confectionery store. It will be finely fitted and furnished.

Another of the first floor rooms of the Coos building was also leased today by parties from Pendleton who will open a moving picture show in it within the next ten days.

J. L. Bowman is now putting the finishing touches to the fixtures of the new clothing and gents furnishing store which will be opened at the cor. of 'A' and Broadway in the new Coos building within a few days. Merchants Bros. are arranging for
