Buy Your Wife a GAS STOVE

It converts the drudgery of the kitchen into a pleasure. It reduces a woman's housework one-half. You can sleep later in the morning as the fire does not have to be made a half-hour before time to cook.

Call at the office and see those instantaneous water heaters. Turning on the cold water lights the gas and heats the water in one minute, turning the water off shuts off the gas.

You would not think of going back to the old kerosene lamp after using electric light, would you? Well, when you have once used a gas stove nothing could induce you to use anything else.

MRS. FRANK GOULD ASKS ABSOLUTE DIVORCE DECREE

Frank J. Gould Made Defendant by Wife Who Was Formerly Helen K. Kelley.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 25.—Papers were served upon Frank J. Gould in a suit for absolute divorce by his wife who was Miss Helen K. Kelley. Gould declined to say whether he would defend the suit. They were married in 1901. They have two children, Helen and Dorothy, aged five and three.

MRS. FRANK GOULD.

The estrangement of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gould adds another chapter to the many marital woes of the children of the late Jay Gould. Anna Gould obtained a divorce from the Count de Castellane; Howard Gould sued his wife, who was Katherine Clemmons, for divorce, and now Mrs. Frank Gould seeks legal separation. She was Miss Kelly of New York, and as children she and Frank Gould were playmates. She is one of the most beautiful women in the fashionable set in New York.

SIGHT SHIPS IN DISTRESS

Alliance Has An Eventful Voyage On Its Last Trip to Portland.

PORTLAND, June 23.—The Telegram says: "While bound from Coos Bay to Portland Wednesday, the steamer Alliance, Captain Olson, sighted the schooler Ida Schnauer about a mile to the south of Tillamook bar, several hours before she went ashore. The captain says that she did not appear to be in a dangerous position when he passed, and he paid no particular attention to her.

Farther up the coast, near the point at which the British bark Galena went ashore two years ago, another schooner was sighted by the Alliance. She was drifting in with the tide. Fearing that she was going to be wrecked, Captain Olson changed his course and started to go to her assistance. Before reaching her, however, the tug Wallula arrived on the scene to take the craft in charge, and the Alliance resumed the voyage to the Columbia river. The schooner was either the Anoy Mahoney or the Alvena, both of which arrived at Astoria yesterday afternoon.

There were light, baffling and variable winds on the outside and occasional fog, which gave the mariners on sailing vessels near the coast all they could do to keep their craft headed in the right course. It is declared that every little while the fog would get so dense as to make it impossible to see a ship's length ahead. Then the fog would lift a short distance and hang almost as low as the tops of the masts. The wind would shift to all points of the compass, but it seldom blew very strong. The atmospheric conditions are described as having been most peculiar.

A big consignment of doors and sashes was brought on the Alliance for shipment to points in the interior. She also had a full list of passengers. The locomotive she took to Marshfield on her last trip was placed on the track 48 hours after the steamer had sailed from Portland."

A little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Anyone who makes it a rule to keep Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand knows this to be a fact. For sale by JOHN PREUES.

WOMAN PUTS BEAR TO ROUT

Mrs. Joe Zweifel of Curry County Rescues Husband From Bruin's Embrace.

PORT ORFORD, Ore., June 19.—The Tribune says: Joe Zweifel, a German who resides near Harbor visited our burg last Tuesday when he informed us of a thrilling encounter with a black bear. Mr. Zweifel's description of the encounter is as follows: At about 10 o'clock, Monday night he states that he heard a scratching at his smoke house door. Mr. Z. thought at first it might be a stray dog, not dreaming of it being a bear. Taking his big shotgun down he told his wife, "if I catch dat tam dog I will give him a charge of shot." As he drew near the smoke house he observed a dark animal just as he entered the door. He raised his gun for some reason it snapped. He then gave it a tremendous kick in the rear. The bear whirled and seized him and commenced hugging him. His lusty yells soon brought his faithful wife to the rescue, armed with a tea kettle of boiling water (that being a woman's weapon.) She dashed a large quantity of the water on the bear's back, and it being a little too warm a climate for bruin, he released his grip on his would be victim and suddenly fled for parts unknown.

This may seem to be a pretty big bear story but it is vouched for the truth by both Mr. and Mrs. Zweifel.

PREMIUM LIST REACHES HERE

Much Interest Is Being Manifested In Second Southern Oregon District Fair.

The premium list for the Second Southern Oregon District Fair, which will be held on Coos Bay August 26 to 29 inclusive, were received at the Chamber of Commerce and can be had by calling for them. The local board and also the district board will be active from now until the Fair is over.

A letter from Secretary Frank Micelli at Roseburg says: "President Parrott will be at Marshfield in person during the Fair, I certainly shall do all in my power to make the Fair a grand success. There is quite a large number of people from here who will attend and especially the stockmen from all over Douglas county are expressing their willingness to make entries in their line."

Mr. Ruby, the importer of draft horses will have some of his fine stock here and people of the Willamette valley as far north as Independence are planning on bringing stock to the Marshfield Fair. The grounds are being rapidly put in shape and in the course of two weeks one will not know the old Fair grounds and race track. The race course was never in as good condition as now. There are now sixteen horses in training and more on the way. Of those now at the track, nine are gallopers, the rest harness horses. Princess the big sorrel mare formerly owned by Warren Reed has arrived. This is the animal known over the mountains as the seagrass mare.

Every dairyman, orchardist, gardener and farmer should be preparing something for exhibition, for the biggest Fair ever held this side of the mountains will occur at Marshfield August 26, 27, 28 and 29 this year.

A number of prominent people from a distance have already signified their intention of attending and it will undoubtedly be the greatest advertising opportunity this section has ever had. Many are arranging their summer outing so as to be in Marshfield during the Fair.

UMATILLA IS SAFE IN NOME HARBOR.

Brings Crew of Lost William Bayliss; Reports Rest of Fleet Safe.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 25. — Cable messages to the Times from Nome, Alaska, bring news of the arrival of the Umatilla, one of the icebound ships, to that port, and confirm the report of the safety of the Ohio, the Thetis and the Transit, and of the loss of the whaler William Bayliss. The Bayliss was crushed in the ice off Siberia three weeks ago, and is a total loss, but the crew was saved by the whaler Bowhead, which arrived last night at Nome with all hands on board, including Captain Bodfish, of the Bayliss. The Umatilla made port at 10 p. m., with all safe on board and the vessel in good condition. She spoke the Ohio, the Thetis and the Transit, which are safe and in open water, but surrounded by ice through which they have been unable to break.
