

BANDON WINS AT NORTH BEND

Defeat Whisnant's Recruits By Score of 7 to 3—Taylor Still Stand By.

Bandon took North Bend down the line yesterday at North Bend, by a score of 7 to 3. The result was a decided surprise and disappointment to the North Bend fans because they had just added three recruits, including a pitcher, to the team and they expected a much better showing. Hull, the new pitcher from Salem, was a sad disappointment because the Bandon aggregation simply landed on him. Finally North Bend had to fall back on Taylor who won the thirteen-inning game at Coquille a week ago by going in the box in the seventh inning for North Bend and after he entered the box, the game was more evenly contested. While they found Taylor, he kept the hits scattered.

Bandon played a good game, much better than they put up against Marshfield a week ago. Jordan pitched better ball for one thing and the field was a little more snappy, not to speak of better stick work.

North Bend's new players had just arrived and the result was probably due somewhat to the lack of team work, caused by inability to practice together, and the new men not being in condition to play their best. This was said to be particularly true of Hull who didn't appear to be able to strike his gait.

LARGE SUMS CHANGED HANDS.

Coquille and Bandon fans won heavily from Coos Bay people. Coquille and Bandon fans won heavily from the Marshfield and North Bend baseball enthusiasts as a result of the Coos Bay teams dropping both games yesterday. Bandon made the biggest killing at North Bend and the reason why Coquille didn't get more in Marshfield was because their money ran out leaving large sums going begging here.

The Coquille aggregation "pooled" their money coming up on the train, making a purse of $250. As soon as they reached town, they passed out the word that they had that much raised and in less than twenty minutes, local fans had it covered and were offering large sums without takers. In addition to this, there were numerous side bets.

Five North Bend men are said to have dropped $680 in a pool bet to a bunch from Bandon. In addition to this, there were many good sized other bets made at even money.

It is likely that grounds rules will be made by Manager McKeown taboing the habit of some of the younger sports of getting out near the grandstand and "crying" their bets like a hawkster would his wares. It is disagreeable to the crowd generally.

Notes of the Game.

Jake Goldie hasn't got over the effects of the awful jolt that Wilson, the North Bend pitcher, handed him two weeks ago. While he played a good game in the field yesterday, he wasn't there with the stick, being unwittingly inclined to step back when he struck and resulting in his striking out five times. However, the fans understood about Jake's still very tender jaw and were willing to pass it by because they know that "Old Man Goldie" is far from a dead one yet.

The absence of McCutcheon was felt sorely by Marshfield yesterday. His reliable stickwork would have probably changed the result. No one knows when he will be able to return from Carlton where he was called by his father's death.

There was considerable wonderment expressed yesterday because Jimmy Cowan wasn't playing with Marshfield.

SHOW GARDNER LIVELY TIME

North Bend Man In Quest of Ball Players Proves Portland's Most Prominent Man.

PORTLAND, June 29.—The Portland Telegram says: "If there had been a contest on for the most popular man in Portland last Thursday, it would have been a cinch for one man. He is J. W. Gardner, of North Bend, sent up here to scout for coming big-league material to bolster up the yielding ranks of the North Bend and Marshfield teams of the Coos County League.

"It did not take long for the news to circulate among the youthful ball chasers of this burg, and they descended upon the Imperial Hotel, where Mr. Gardner was stopping, like the vanguard of the Summer colony upon a stray bachelor. Mr. Gardner was wakened at 10:30 by the chambermaid yelling "Gangway," in order to get along the hall for her morning chores.

"The manager did not know whether he had a fake mining promoter or Lord Somebody for a guest, but took a chance and asked him to move into a room as near the elevator as possible to save the carpets.

"Every semi-pro, manager in the city would be taken with ebullience and agree if the baseball players who called upon Mr. Gardner were enumerated but the Coos County man had the pick of the city. They were all big leaguers kept down by shortsighted managers, according to their song and dance.

"Mr. Gardner proved himself a good judge of players by the men he took, and must have gotten inside advice from somebody. He picked three of the stars of the Salem bunch in Pitcher Hull, Third Baseman Porterfield and Left Fielder Manion, and started for Coos Bay with them."
