Horse Is Injured.—Gold Beach, L. M. Noble's running mare, was badly injured by being kicked by another horse while running in the pasture. Several stitches had to be taken in her side by a veterinary and it is feared that the injury will end her track career. She participated in the last race meet.

New Quarters Ready.—Carr and Lash have practically completed the painting and decorating of the store-room at 'A' and Broadway, formerly occupied by Merchant Bros., which is to be occupied by the new furniture store of Perry, Montgomery and others. It will be one of the most attractively arranged stores on Coos Bay.

Lockhart May Sell Out.—Guy Warner, who has been the able and accommodating clerk in the general store of G. A. Robinson the past year, went to Marshfield Monday. ## ROAD MATTERS WILL COME UP

County Commissioners to Pass On Several Important Projects Next Week.

Judge John F. Hall has returned from Coquille where he has been attending the regular quarterly session of the Coos County Board of Commissioners, the session being adjourned until next Monday until E. A. Anderson recovers sufficiently from his injuries to be able to attend. The commissioners audited bills and attended to some detail work but left the larger propositions until a full board could consider them.

Monday, the question of completing the elevated plank roadway between Marshfield and North Bend will be brought up for discussion. There is a petition of remonstrance in against this proposed work. Some of the commissioners are said to be in favor of completing it anyway.

Another matter that will come up is the request of J. H. Flanagan and others who subscribed $5,000 or thereabouts to construct the Pennsylvania avenue drawbridge across Coal Bank Inlet in order to develop their holdings in Bunker Hill addition, Bay City, etc., to have the county reimburse them and take the bridge off their hands.

There is also a lively controversy over a proposed road in the Coquille valley, some interests opposing it and others urging its construction. As yet, the construction of the proposed drawbridge to open up the road to Sunset Bay and Bandon has not been brought up.

walks will be put in on Front street. The majority of the citizens favor cement and concrete walks providing the fill can be made sufficiently solid to support them. Contractor McCann says that he can make a good sidewalk on a plank base with an asphalt covering providing the fill will not support concrete.

Mrs. Stauff Better.—Mrs. Alex Stauff who was injured in a launch accident July 4th, is reported much improved which will be gratifying to her many friends. The swelling is decreasing and it has been determined that there was no fracture of the bones. Her wrist was badly sprained and her hand and arm severely bruised so that it will be some time before she fully recovers.

Big Berries Brought In.—Some of the sample products of what grows in the Coos Bay country are now coming in to the Chamber of Commerce daily. Yesterday two straw-berries weighing an ounce and a quarter were brought in from Jack Swanson's place. Today a dozen, filling a box to heaping measure were brought in by W. M. Ross. A pie plant leaf with foliage large as an umbrella and stem, large as a common sized wrist was brought in from the Potter ranch near Millington.

Inspect Stone Deposits.—P. A. Devers, Wm. Grimes, Walter Lyon, Mr. Dorr of Tonopah, Nev., Architect Hendricks and Contractor Erickson of Salem, Ore., were taken up Coos River by Claude Nasburg in his launch yesterday to inspect the stone deposits. For some time, local business men and prospective builders have been anxious to secure a better grade of stone for concrete than has been used. Yesterday the party found two excellent deposits on Coos River, one on Ed. Noyes' ranch, at the water's edge just below the forks, and on the Ren Smith ranch farther up. It is believed that the quality of the stone from these two deposits is of an unusual high grade.

FOREST FIRE PROTECTION.

Douglas, Coos, Curry and Josephine Counties Better Patrolled.

GRANTS PASS, Ore., July 10.—To guard against forest fires in the big fir and pine reserves of southern Oregon, the national forest service, through its southern Oregon division, is taking extra precautions and placing larger crews in the woods. Forest fires have done considerable destruction to the big trees of the reserves in years past.

Supervisor M. J. Anderson has established camps of rangers in every district of the reserves of Douglas, Coos, Curry and Josephine counties. More men are on guard this year than ever before, and it is believed that the breaking out of fires can be prevented.

Once started it is impossible to stop the forest fires, and the men employed by the service will arrest every violator of the forest service rules. Only one fire has occurred thus far this season, and this was a comparatively small blaze in the fir timber near West Fork, southern Douglas county. Rangers put it out before it spread.
 To better protect the forests, telephone lines have been strung from the headquarters in Grants Pass to all the main camps and the camps themselves are connected by wire.

They have been living apart for two months. Mrs. Matlock, who is in very poor health, is living with her daughter Mrs. Robert M. Pratt, wife of a Eugene capitalist.

LIBRARY WEIGHS FOUR TONS.

 We are in receipt of a copy of the Idaho Falls Times in which we note an article almost a column in length describing the law library of Ralph Edmonds, a prominent attorney of that place, and a former resident of Coos county, who will be remembered by many citizens of the Coquille, having lived a number of years on Fishtrap, all of whom will be pleased to know of his success in business. The library is estimated at a cost of $10,000 and weighs four tons.—Coquille Herald.

The Lord's Prayer and Sermons.
 A curious proof of how tenaciously paganism held its ground for some generations after the majority of the people had become Christians is found in a Gaelic version of the Lord's Prayer, which up to a very recent period existed in parts of Cork and Kerry. Instead of "Lead us not into temptation" "Na Leit sinn a ndraoidheach" was said, meaning "allow us not into Druidism."—London Times.
