PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT URGES ACTION AGAINST STANDARD OIL

Causes Federal Prosecutors to Get Busy In Chicago Rebate Case.

WANTS LARGE FINE IMPOSED COLLECTED

Will Endeavor to Thwart Rockefeller's Plan to Secure Retrial.

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Ill., July 25.—President Roosevelt has informed Attorney General Bonaparte to take immediate steps to force the prosecution of the Chicago rebate case against the Standard Oil Company, the $29,240,000 fine and verdict of guilty in the first case having been set aside by the Circuit Court of Appeals the other day. President Roosevelt insists that the Standard Oil Company be punished for the violation which he characterizes as a flagrant one.

Roosevelt's statement had the effect of a galvanic battery on the government's legal forces in Chicago. District Attorney Sims and his assistants are straining every nerve to regain the $29,240,000 fine without a new trial as they realize that a second trial even in the event of conviction will mean a much smaller fine. They base their hope on the theory that Bonaparte's case against Standard Oil Company can be carried to the Supreme court of the United States and that though an application of the writ of certiorari, they may also petition for a rehearing before United States Court of Appeals.

The time was fifteen seconds, a new world's record. The American team won the 1,600-metre relay race. The German team was second and the Hungarian team, third. The time was three minutes and 25 2-5 seconds. The Americans were not pressed at any stage.

BETTER MAIL SERVICE HERE

General Manager Millis Starts Twice-a-Day Service to Coquille Valley.

Beginning Monday, July 25, twice-a-day mail service will be inaugurated between Coos Bay, Coquille and Myrtle Point. Announcement to this effect has been made by General Manager C. J. Millis of the C. B. & E. Ry. & N. Co. The additional mail facilities are the result of the recent changes in train service between the points which is proving decidedly advantageous to all of the points concerned.

The twice-a-day mail service will be of special value to business and professional men of the three cities as it will enable them to get letters from one town to another and replies by mail the same day and even this record can possibly be doubled by use of the special delivery where prompt service can be had in the postoffices. The additional traffic given the extra train service was a sufficient token of appreciation of Mr. Millis' efforts to give the best possible service and the establishment of the improved mail service will be highly gratifying to the residents of the Coquille Valley and Coos Bay.

STATEMENT BY MR. BURNSIDE

Coquille Umpire Gives His Version of Last Sunday's Game.

The controversy between the Marshfield fans and the Coquille team as to Umpire Burnside's decision is growing decidedly warm so that the next game between the teams promises to be one of the most interesting of the season. While Sunday's games between Coquille and North Bend at North Bend and Bandon and Marshfield in Marshfield promise to be good ones, the fans are waiting for the next contest with Coquille.

Chas. Baxter of Coquille, denies the report that he refused to accept a wager made on last Sunday's game, declaring that he didn't have any money up on the game. Umpire Burnside has the following in the Coquille Sentinel this week, relative to the statement of the Marshfield fans which was printed by The Times last Monday:

Editor Coquille Sentinel: The attack in Monday's Times regarding the decision of a fair ball which the Clam Diggers contended was a foul ball was unwarranted and shows they are good sports as long as they are winning, but when they happen to be defeated they set up a baby cry of foul. We do not blame the editor of The Times as he was "stung" in listening to only one side of the question while he should have called up the undersigned or some of the team and got their side of the case.

All fair-minded persons who saw the play called it a fair ball and if Marshfield had been at bat and the same play made they would have received the same decision. While the decision was close it was not as rank as the one made by Agnew, Marshfield's umpire at a game in that city June 26th when a foul ball was counted a fair ball outside of first base. Players should remember that all decisions of umpires are final in all cases and that while the umpire may make mistakes they are not done from a motive of throwing a game but from faulty judgment.

No one has ever found complaint with my decisions during the three years in which I have umpired games. I have never yet been accused of selling out any team and am not afraid to have any one look up my past record or write to the president of the Tri-City League for which I worked two years. Although I may look like a "kid" I am old enough to show such fellows as McKeown and some of his smart teammates things about the game. If McKeown was playing in organized ball he would have most of his salary taken from him by umpires in fines because they would not stand for his style of ball.

W. J. BURNSIDE, Umpire.

THEATRICAL MEN ROUGH IT IN THE MOUNTAINS

Members of Margaret Iles Company Enjoy Outing In Wilds Beyond Myrtle Point.

Herbert Cramer who with the other masculine members of the Margaret Iles Company has been enjoying an outing in the mountains beyond Myrtle Point, came down to Marshfield yesterday to meet his wife who returned on the M. F. Plant from a visit at San Francisco and Oakland. He reports that they have been having a fine time, being so far away from even a razor that his friends had difficulty in recognizing him until the hirsute adornments had been removed yesterday. He says that they killed ten deer and while they have agreed that each shot three apiece, they haven't agreed as to whether he, Ed. Meade or Joe Thompson killed the odd one. Mr. and Mrs. Cramer will return to the camp for another week after which they will return to Myrtle Point to open the season. Miss Iles and other ladies of the troupe will come up from Frisco next week. The company will play in Marshfield during the Second Southern Oregon District Fair.
