JURY DELAYS VERDICT TO PLAY V GAME OF POKER

NEW JERSEY JUSTICE WAITS FIVE HOURS WHILE GAME OF DRAW WENT ON. NEW YORK, July 30.—"Can you open this pot?" "You're a quarter shy there, old man."

The jury retired at 10 p. m., and after talking about the horse for awhile, one of them produced a pack of cards. The crowd, waiting for the verdict, peered in the windows.

Mr. Cook even specifies that the ante was ten cents and the limit twenty-five cents. The game was so engrossing that, at 2 a. m. Justice Crego went to the office to learn what had become of the verdict.

Oh, What Joy! "Cured at last! Oh, what joy to think that I have at last been cured of that awful bowel trouble," are the words of A. C. Butler of Cold Springs, Texas, who suffered off and on for twelve months with a disorder of his bowels, and finally, after almost giving up in despair, was cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

RECIPE WAS 24 PINTS OF FIZZ

NORTH CAROLINA AUTHORITIES TRIED TO MAKE TROUBLE ABOUT DR. PRITCHARD'S PRESCRIPTION.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 30.—The sons and brothers of North Carolina Judges seem to be pretty good judges too—of champagne. Robert E. Reynolds is a highly popular young society man and a brother of Judge Spears Reynolds.

Judge Pritchard hates wine worse than a cat hates rain. He opened the Prohibition campaign in this state and is now making "dry" stump speeches. But his son, the doctor, remembering his Hippocratic oath, let nothing interfere with his duty to his patient and prescribed champagne for young Mr. Reynolds, and seemingly signed the prescription.

Thereupon, remarkable to say, young Mr. Reynolds gave a supper at the hotel to some of the prettiest girls and gayest young men in the Asheville Four Hundred. And champagne was served at the supper.

The affair came before Judge Peebles of the Superior Court and he promptly quashed the indictments without as much as asking whether Dr. Pritchard was at the supper to administer his prescription. Then the desperate authorities went to the city police court, and the Judge there threw the case out as if it was an empty pint bottle.

INDIAN BUYS MERRY WIDOW

WALKS INTO MILLINERY STORE, DEMANDS A BIG ONE AND WANDERS AWAY TO SURPRISE HER "BUCK."

SILOUS CITY, Ia., July 30.—A well known Sioux City millinery establishment was dumbfounded the other day when a fat squaw from the Winnebago reservation, across the Missouri, came in and demanded a "Merry Widow" hat for her bare head.

"Widower-kettle, posies and grass," she explained to the staring clerk, as she placed one greasy hand on her bare head, and with the other shifted the position of a chubby papoose on her back.

That knowing lady readily inferred from the repeated statement that the squaw wanted a "Merry Widow," as big as a stew kittle, made of straw and trimmed with flowers.

It didn't take long to satisfy the taste of the red girl, for her eyes danced when the first hat was placed on her shiny head. She pealed off a bill and started for the door. Look good like white girl, now," she vociferated. "Me find buck; he be afraid—wuff" and she was off to the street, looking very out of place, under the thatched roof.

LEGACY LIFTS HER TO LUXURY

PETER GREER'S GRANDNIECE, WORKING GIRL IN SEATTLE, INHERITS HIS MILLION DOLLAR ESTATE.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The million-dollar estate left by the late Peter Greer, of New York, becomes the inheritance of Nellie Greer, his grandniece, who is a working girl in Seattle. The property comprises some real estate in Forty-fourth street.

A year ago, Nellie was left an orphan by the death of her father, and was compelled to work for her livelihood. Unless her brother, who is an heir, hears of the legacy, which has changed her condition from poverty to wealth she will have none of her own relatives with whom to share her fortune.

WOMAN'S SAD HEN-EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Haley Rich Only in Experience After Eight Months of Expense and Worry.

WINSTED, Conn., July 30.—Mrs. Fred Haley, of Front street, who started to get rich on hens, thus relates her experience: "My husband bought $20 worth of lumber and built the coop himself. I invested $5 in ten dozen eggs to set, out of which I got seventeen pullets, after the rats and the cats were through with them. I spent $1.90 for corn monthly for eight months. The hens always got their breakfast off the neighbor's lettuce and beans.

"There was a wire enclosure six feet high. Imagine my feeling when my neighbor's wrath was turned on me on account of the depredations of those chickens. "One night in his rambles a mean marauder relieved me of the chickens using a neighbor's sled to take them home, leaving me sadder but wiser. That was the extent of my profit. But, on the other hand, the fellow who took the fowls cleared $17 without the expenditure of a cent."
