THE HEARST MOVEMENT.

If Mr. Hearst had accepted a nomination the independence party movement might have cut a considerable figure. Mr. Hearst is without any doubt or cavil a man of force, a man of ideas, and a man of capacity for expression. He knows what he wants to do. He knows what he wants to say, and he both does and says with a directness that is refreshing and inviting.

But Mr. Higgen cut no particular figure when he ran as a candidate for governor in Massachusetts, and his personal influence will be confined to the eastern states where he will not materially injure either Taft or Bryan. John Temple Graves is also a negligible quantity in politics. He was without much influence in the south before, and now that he has gone to New York to work for Mr. Hearst he will have less.

The independence league is Hearst. Insofar as his newspapers can galvanize some lay figures into like the Higgen and Graves ticket will be in evidence. But if at any time Mr. Hearst should withdraw from the contest there would not be enough left of his party to make wadding for an old fashioned muzzle loading fowling piece.

As for Mr. Hearst, he has a future it will do to speculate on. He is only 45 years of age. He is accounted wealthy in his own right, and he is the only son of a widowed mother who is rated at $20,000,000. He has the largest total newspaper circulation under his control ever brought together in the world. He has ambition, tremendous will power and absolute indifference to the wishes or threats of others.

There have been radical leaders before him. But they have worked more or less along accepted lines. Mr. Hearst for the first time brings to this country the unrest of Europe and the sort of radical agitation that has characterized European politics. This has been charged to Mr. Brisbane, his talented editorial writer, who secured his education in the German schools, and who has preached the advanced democracy of the German socialists through the columns of the Hearst newspapers. Whosoever the responsibility, there is a new note in the Hearst outcry against the established order.

Roosevelt is now 50 years of age, Bryan 48, and Hearst 45. They are three men who have twenty-five years of tremendous activity before them. Each is a radical in his own way, and each has capacity for leadership. No other three men can be named who compare with them in following and in power to move masses of men. They are bound to influence the thought of the American people, and to materially shape the ends of the American experiment.

WANTED FOR CRIME.

Bandon Furniture Company Seeks Two Young Men.

The Bandon Furniture Company have procured warrants for the arrest of two young men by the names of Roy Bixby and Roy G. Nevinger of that place. These two men came to Bandon several weeks ago from Kansas and started a clothes cleaning establishment and prospered from the start. They procured about $20 worth of blankets and comforters from the Bandon Furniture Company and left for Marshfield and said that they would return in two or three days. Their failure to do so caused the company to make inquiries and they learned that they were in Portland and so warrants were sworn out and an officer left to bring them back.—Coquille Sentinel.

WITH THE TOAST AND TEA

GOOD EVENING.

A Nation's Glory.

The true glory of a nation is in the living temple of a loyal, industrious, and upright people. The busy click of machinery, the merry ring of the anvil, the lowing of peaceful herds, and the song of the harvest-home, are sweeter music than the paeans of departed glory, or songs of triumph in war. The vine-clad cottage of the hillside, the cabin of the woodsman, and the rural home of the farmer, are the true citadels of any country. There is a dignity in honest toil which belongs not to the display of wealth or the luxury of fashion. The man who drives the plow, or swings his axe in the forest, or with cunning fingers plies the tools of his craft, is as truly the servant of his country as the statesman in the senate, or the soldier in battle.

BISHOP WHIPPLE.

Gettin' Home Again.

It always does me good to get away from home awhile, To laze around like I wuz rich An' put on lots o' style, To travel like a millionaire, You bet I like it then— But say, the jolliest part of all Is gettin' home again.

I like to brag of where I've bin— (When folks is standin' by) Of stately mountains that I've seen A-reachin' to the sky; Or floatin' in a palace yacht, Oit on the ocean's foam, But say, I like best when it comes Ter lightin' out fer home.

The old town seems' bout twice as big

As when I went away, N' there's more folks a-standin' round Than on a'lection day. N' there ain't nary one o' them But wears a smilin' face, With a sort o' "glad to see you" at A-hangin' round the place.

You bet that I have lots o' fun Whenever I go 'way, But it feels mighty good to think "I'm going' home today." It ain't that I get lonesome like, I'm not that kind but then, You bet the jolliest part of all— Is gettin' home again. —Selected.

It matters not whether a man lives well or merely exists, so long as he doesn't know the difference.

A word to the wise is sufficient— If he is paying for it at his end of the long-distance telephone.

Some Coos Bay men walk as if they needed glasses and some others walk as if they had, taken too many.

It's all right for a man to be a dreamer of dreams provided he wakes up occasionally and gets busy.

Most Coos Bay young men will do anything a young and pretty sister asks— If she is some other fellow's sister.

The worst thing about rich relations is the way they look down on you because you are not rich enough to look down on them.

There's nothing a Coos Bay woman enjoys more than telling how much better her husband's digestive apparatus works since she married him.

An Indication of Learning.
Evelyn—He's a very learned man. You wouldn't think so, would you?
Natica—Oh, yes! I suspected it at once.
Evelyn—Indeed?
Natica—Yes, he makes me so tired.

One Bit of Evidence.
The young widow was trying to make a favorable impression. "Don't you think, Mr. Oldbach," she said, "that of late years people are growing more and more intelligent?" "I do," replied Oldbach. "I notice among other things there has been a great falling off in the number of marriages."

BANDON GETS NEW FACTORY

F. S. Perry Veneering Company Will Open Plant There Soon.

BANDON, Ore., Aug. 15.—The Recorder says that the F. S. Perry Veneering Co., which has operated at Portland for some time, has leased the second story of the Jones Shingle Mill at Bandon, and will proceed at once to install their machinery which has been moved as far as Coquille, and will be running inside of a week or ten days.

The plant will employ about ten or twelve men at the start and as the business increases more men will be added.

The chief work of the veneering plant is to make material for fruit and berry boxes and their chief market will be California, although they will supply the local trade as well. The veneering works will use mostly spruce, of which there is almost an inexhaustible supply around Bandon and in the Coquille valley.

The company already have large contracts to fill and have others under consideration, sufficient to keep them running at full capacity for some time to come, and the plant will in all probability run both day and night.

of justice," which is understood to mean the release of J. C. Wilcox, the former North Bend dance hall proprietor, from the county jail before the expiration of his sentence. It is understood to be the Rev. Mr. Brown's intention to secure several speakers to discuss the matter and the meeting will probably result in a movement to renew the prosecution of Wilcox.

The Rev. Mr. Brown in his announcement of the meeting says: "The Sunday evening service at the Presbyterian will be of the nature of a protest against a flagrant miscarriage of justice which has just been handed the people of Coos Bay. This service will interest you. Don't fail to be present."
