HOW E. H. HARRIMAN CAME TO BE A MILLIONAIRE

Pastor's Wife Attributes It to Spirit of Economy Inherited From His Mother, a "Pastress."

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Presbyterian ministers at their weekly conference heard some things in the churches criticised from the view point of a preacher's wife. The critic was Mrs. John S. Allen, wife of the assistant pastor of the Collegiate Marble church, Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street. The clergymen smiled and applauded this statement in Mrs. Allen's address:

"In passing let us give credit to the pastress as an expert in economies. We wonder how it is that so many ministers' sons, like E. H. Harriman and others, become millionaires and captains of industry. Is it not because of the inbred gift of careful management, inherited from mothers who know how to accomplish the seemingly impossible by stretching of small incomes to cover large outlays?"

Her subject was "Pastress and Pastorate."

EASTSIDE DOINGS.

John Vineyard of Eastside, is erecting a nice residence there.

J. W. Vinyard is putting up a nice two-story residence on 10th and 'D' street.

YOUTH LOSSES REASON.

Mark Dunham of Roseburg, Crazed By Fright While Hunting.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Aug. 20.—While hunting 35 miles east of this city, Mark W. Dunham, 17-year-old son of Mrs. E. V. Dunham, was suddenly bereft of reason. He had left his companions for a hunt alone and was then in his right mind, but when he came back to them several hours later he was insane and deluded with the idea that wild beasts were pursuing him. He was brought to Roseburg and committed to the state insane asylum. It is the logical belief that the lad's insanity is due to severe fright as the result of meeting either a cougar or a bear during his hunt.

AT THE THEATRE.

Georgia Harper gave a good performance of Nell Gwynne at the Masonic Opera House last night. Columns could be filled with praise for this talented actress, but space forbids. In last night's play Joseph Detrick as King Charles, was up to his usual standard. Tonight "Magda," one of Herman Suderman's plays will be presented. Mr. Suderman is the author of "Salome," the play that gained such great success lately. In "Magda," Miss Harper has a remarkably strong role.

The story of the play is most interesting and enough comedy is introduced to make a variety which is always pleasing. New costumes and scenery will be used.
