"Tone Beauty"

That is the expression which a well-known musician used recently when referring to the musical qualities of the GABLER PIANO.

The GABLER piano cannot be excelled in either tonal richnesss or responsiveness to touch. It is the piano for the musician and the home, and every detail has been worked out perfectly, so that its "tone beauty" appeals with irresistible force to music lovers.

The GABLER small grand has been subjected to every test, and connoisseurs have not hesitated to pronounce it the most remarkable which they have examined of small grand creations. It possesses a wealth of tone rarely found excepting in the large size grand pianos.

CITY ROSE HEDGE.

How a Small Back Yard Was Easily Made a Beauty Spot.

Iron fences can easily be made attractive and greatly enhance the beauty of a town by following the scheme described in this article:

There is a little two story house on a street in West Philadelphia that boasts one of the prettiest rose hedges that ever reminded the tired city dweller of green lawns and country gardens. The house has, as most West Philadelphia houses do, a wee bit of sodded yard behind it—only a few feet square and surrounded by a low iron fence.

Over this fence the roses trail, gay crimson ramblers and dainty pink ramblers and rare bits of sweetbrier. From the street through the narrow distance that separates the house from its neighboring "pair" the passerby catches glimpses of what looks like some lovely pleasure garden. In the warm days the family who live in the little house all the year around eat their supper in a corner of the yard beside the roses, and on summer afternoons they entertain callers there. It is one of the prettiest places in town, this back yard of a little two story house.

And all that the wise housewife did was to buy some little rose plants, the climbing kind, and train them over that ugly wire fence.

High Culture Manifest.

Surely we are undergoing a pleasing development in civic life in the matter of municipal beauty, cleanliness and conveniences. Those places are indeed behind the times which provide no resting places, drinking fountains and evidence of community pride and thrift. The individual may help much toward the desired goal if he only cleans and cares for his own premises in a proper manner. Work of this kind, like the measles, is highly contagious and soon affects the community generally. Visitors wonder why such a place is so much more attractive than others similarly situated and are unconsciously attracted and if looking for a home will not fail to consider the live, up to date appearance when the final decision to settle is made. Tidy up your premises and brighten the scene with a few flowers.

Oh, What Joy!

"Cured at last! Oh, what joy to think that I have at last been cured of that awful bowel trouble," are the words of A. G. Butler of Cold Springs, Texas, who suffered off and on for twelve months with a disorder of his bowels, and finally, after almost giving up in despair, was cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No one need suffer from colic or diarrhoea, for this remedy always gives prompt relief. For sale by JOHN PREUSS.
