Prosperity Will Not Return Until Tariff Is Revised.

By CHARLES H. TREAT, Treasurer of the United States.

WE find ourselves much better off in monetary resources and property than after previous panics. WE HAVE A GREAT RECUPERATIVE POWER BEHIND US. There seems no good reason why there should be a prolonged depression in business.

TO BE SURE, A FULL RETURN TO WIDESPREAD PROSPERITY MAY BE DELAYED UNTIL AFTER THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION AND THE READJUSTMENT OF OUR TARIFF SCHEDULES.

It is reasonable to expect that legislation in this direction should be completed by next March and confidence given to the business world to start anew and trade become active in all those productions that are affected by tariff rates.

ON THE GROWING RETURN OF CONFIDENCE OUR MONETARY RESOURCES SHOULD ENABLE US IN A SHORT TIME TO RESUME NORMAL BUSINESS ACTIVITIES.

Value of the Newspaper In the Family Circle.

By Rev. PHOEBE A. HANAFORD.

THAT the newspaper is a means of culture cannot be denied when it is remembered how often its pages are adorned with attractive representations of paintings by the old and the new masters in art and also with admirable sketches by pen and pencil of the cathedrals and other architectural triumphs of our own and other centuries.

No one can question that the newspaper of today is a source of information.

"News from all nations lumbering at his back." The knowledge of the latest discoveries and the latest inventions is spread far and wide through the newspaper. The busy citizen and the thoughtful recluse in the country are alike indebted to the newspaper for the news items which interest them and may even prove a financial benefit.

The humorous paragraphs may prove an innocent amusement, and even a rational as well as innocent pleasure, since genuine wit is akin to real wisdom.

THE NEWSPAPER IS AN INSPIRATION WITH THE LOFTY SENTIMENTS OF ITS POETS' CORNER, AND THE PATRIOTIC COLUMNS WHICH STIR ALIKE THOSE WHO HAVE NOBLY LIVED HISTORY AND THOSE WHO YET MAY WEAR THE UNWITHERING BAYS.

A warm welcome then is due the newspaper from the family circle, with its varied contents, its moral tone, its literary character and its usefulness in business directions both for employer and employee.
