

FIX SUM OF BONDS $42,000

to take up the bonds at the expiration of ten years, but that he thought it would look better and appeal more strongly to the voters to have twenty-year bonds instead of straight twenty-year bonds.

Councilman Lockhart said that he was anxious to have it fixed up so that it would be certain to pass.

Sacchi Criticizes Expense.
Councilman Sacchi said that he was afraid that a bond-issue would not carry. He said also that the city ought to immediately arrange to increase the city's revenue so that the current expenses would be met henceforth and also some money laid aside to pay off the bonded indebtedness. He said the city should be kept free from debt unless it had something to show for the expenditures. He said that if they wanted to buy the waterworks or other public utilities, the voters could decide that. He intimated that the present $42,000 had been paid out, with the exception of about $10,000, with nothing to show for it.

Mayor Straw resented this. He said that a lot had been bought on the hill, the city hall had been purchased, a roller, a fire-engine and other things had been bought.

Grimes Praises Council.
Col. Wm. Grimes made a rather lengthy talk. He said that he had heard considerable criticism of the council, but that he didn't share it. He said that he felt sure the members of the council were doing the best they could and that he for one had appreciated the cooperation the city officials had extended in securing street and other public improvements. He said that it had been a mistake to have the current expenses to exceed the income, but that it had been done and no one wished to repudiate the debt. In the future, he urged the council to see that the income was sufficient to meet the current expenses.

Nelson's Attitude.
Councilman Nelson in explaining why he voted against the proposed bond-issue said today that he did so for several reasons. He said that, under the charter, after the bond-issue of $42,000 is floated and the present warrants are paid off, the council will be permitted to again

PINCHOT IS CRITICISED.

Speaker at Irrigation Congress Hts Forestry Head. (By Associated Press.)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 30.—The second day's session of the Irrigation Congress opened with the appointment of committees. The resolutions committee began work at once. The resolutions in the hands of the committee cover a wide range of subjects. The National Association of Manufacturers presented a resolution strongly endorsing the reclamation service and forestry bureau. The chief address of the session was by D. C. Beaman of Denver, who spoke on "The national forest and the forest service." Beaman sharply criticized Pinchot's forestry policy. The address will bring forth replies from several forestry bureau men who are here.

run into debt and issue a lot more warrants that may have to be paid by another bond-issue. He says he is opposed to the city running into debt this way and wants the city's revenue fixed up so that the city can pay its way and also take up the outstanding warrants gradually.

BANKERS WILL END SESSION

Important Resolutions to Be Passed On In Denver This Afternoon.

(By Associated Press.)
DENVER, Colo., Oct. 1.—The closing sessions of the American Bankers Assn. today were replete with incidents besides the election of officers and winding up the business of the convention. The resolutions, which may have a far-reaching effect, were considered. Several addresses of interest were delivered. The question of guaranteeing bank deposits will be brought squarely before the convention at this afternoon's session in a report by the federal legislative committee which takes a decided stand in opposition of such an action by either federal or state governments.

SHORTAGE OF FALSE HAIR.

Demand in France for Curly Exceeds the Supply.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—It might have been expected that the demand for false hair in Paris would exceed the supply, but the crisis has come sooner than looked for.

A French woman without a few false curls does not consider herself well dressed, and the situation is aggravated by the fact that constant hairdressing, curling, and the application of so-called tonics ruin the growth of the hair, so that most French women are obliged to depend on a coiffure.

For years the peasant girls of Brittany and Normandy have sold their tresses at annual hair fairs, but lately there has been a decided shortage in these quarters. Recent customs statistics show that France imports 300 tons of hair yearly from other countries, chiefly China and Japan.

"It is true," said a prominent hairdresser in the Place Vendome, "we are having great difficulty in securing enough hair to meet the demand, especially since American women have accepted the French fashion of hairdressing and wear false curls. At one time only the nobility wore false hair, but now everybody has it. Of course, all the while the stage demands a certain number of wigs."

JESSE BARKER KILLS BIG PANTHER AT FAIRVIEW

Lands Mountain Lion Measuring Eight Feet From Tip to Tip After a Half-Day Hunt.

Jesse Barker of Fairview yesterday brought to Marshfield one of the largest panthers or mountain lions that has been seen here in some time. The animal measured over eight feet from tip to tip and was killed by Mr. Barker the previous night. He is having the animal's carcass mounted at Graham's.

The panther had been making raids on the sheep in Fairview and was first seen by Dale Flynn who sent word to Mr. Barker. The latter brought his hounds and was soon on the trail. After a half-day chase, the big mountain lion was cornered and a bullet quickly ended its career.

ADVERTISING.

Of course, no newspaper could live a week on its income if it had no advertising patronage.

All newspaper men know this, as does the public.

Every newspaper maintains an advertising solicitor for this reason, and its chief return for its unceasing work every day for the town and every business in it is from its advertising support.

Yet, if this were not so, it would still be true that no business man anywhere does the full amount of business which would easily be his who does not advertise, and advertise liberally.

This is not a proposition which requires any discussion to prove its correctness. And the men who skimps in his advertising by just that much curtails his business.

The man who advertises in The Coos Bay Times gets his announcements carried to every part of this county every day free of cost to him. And yet there are men who think they are actually saving by not advertising, or by cutting their space down conclude that they are practicing "economy."
