New Logging Camp.—Harry Noble and Chas. Bradbury will open a logging camp shortly on the Norman tract.

Recovers From Injury.—Wm. Bieritz of Allegany was released from Mercy hospital yesterday, having recovered from the injuries sustained in a logging accident ten days ago. He was attended by Dr. Geo. E. Dix.

Builds Warehouse.—Capt. Edwards of the steamer Alert, is planning to erect a warehouse on the dock at Marshfield and will put in an elevator which will accommodate the large amount of freight coming from North Coos River.

Steps On Rusty Nail.—Mrs. Peterson of Bay City, is laid up as a result of stepping on a rusty nail which pierced the sole of her shoe and penetrated her foot. Dr. Dix who dressed the wound does not anticipate any unfavorable developments in the case.

Open Season Ends.—The deer hunting season in Coos and Curry counties closed yesterday, and no more can be shot in this section until July 15, next. In other sections, the season does not close until November. The game law will be strictly enforced by Cal. Wright and the other game wardens in this section.

Dredge Engineer Here.—Donald Charleston, a government engineer, arrived here yesterday from Portland to take charge of the survey work for the government dredge Oregon which is now improving the channel of Coos Bay. The dredge has resumed work on the shoal near the mouth of Pony Inlet, the delay caused by the storm having been only temporary.

Big Fish Story.—North Bend fishermen are telling the biggest fish story of the season on Coos Bay. They claim that J. M. Thomas' son landed a chinook in the bay the other day that weighed 64 3-4 pounds and was over four feet in length. The story is that the young man caught the salmon while trolling near Plat B. Had he not tied the line to his foot, he would have probably lost line and all. As it was, it took him about five minutes to land the fish which is declared to be the largest landed in the upper bay in years.

Will Return Soon.—M. N. Knuppenberg, who has been negotiating for the Oregon Coal and Navigation Company's property here, is expected to return to Coos Bay in about ten days or two weeks. While he has contracts for the purchase of the property, it is understood that it was necessary to have his associates in Washington to pass on them. Superintendent P. Hennessey of the Libby mine, who was in Marshfield today, said that there was no statement to be given out yet regarding the deal and that there would be none until Mr. Knuppenberg returned.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.
Bids will be received by the council of the City of Marshfield up to October 20th, 1908, for putting a concrete surface on the north half of second street, from the center of Myrtle street to the center of Fir street of said city, according to plans and specifications now in the office of the City Engineer.
The council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

J. M. UPTON, Recorder.

MRS. JOHN R. SMITH and two children of North Bend, leave on the steamer Plant for a two months' sojourn with relatives and friends in Southern California.

J. B. WHITE of Poplar Bluffs, Mo., one of the best-known lumbermen of that section, arrived here today to visit his friend, M. C. Horton of the First Trust and Savings Bank, and also to look over the prospects of the Coos Bay country with a view to becoming financially interested here.

REV. G. S. CLEVENGER of the Marshfield Baptist church, goes to Bandon where he will conduct services Sunday morning. Sunday evening he will conduct services at Coquille. Owing to the improvement work now underway in the Marshfield church. It will be impossible to hold services here Sunday.

J. W. BENNETT, who has been laid up with an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, is improving rapidly, much to the gratification of his many friends. As soon as the weather clears up, it is expected that he will be able to be out and around. This is practically the first time that he has ever been laid up by illness.

W. F. MILLER, Marshfield agent of the local railway, will leave tomorrow for Portland to meet Mrs. Miller who is returning from an extended eastern trip. She has been away about ten weeks and spent most of the time at her old home in Monroe, Ia., but she also visited at other Iowa and Nebraska points. In her last letter, she stated that she would be glad to get back to Coos Bay owing to the intense heat in that section.
