Oregon Grand Master and his consent is expected to be forthcoming soon. It is expected that he will grant a dispensation to permit the lodge to be organized now and work under the Marshfield lodge until the Oregon Grand Lodge meets again. The first officers of the North Bend lodge will be: W. M. Chas. W. Taylor, S. W.; Chas. E. Maybee; J. W. Edgar McDaniel.

Had Narrow Escape.—Edgar Simpson of the Simpson Lumber Company, while handling the line from a schooner pulling up to the North Bend dock the other day, was jerked into the water and for a time onlookers feared for his safety. However, being an excellent swimmer, he was able to get out of the way of the vessel and get ashore unaided. He was not injured.

Still After Big Game.—Thayer Grimes came in last evening from Ten Mile where he has been with his father and the others in quest of any big game that the Harriman hounds may stir up. Mrs. Grimes and he returned today to see some of the fun. Col. Grimes says that he is going to get some of the biggest game ever landed here regardless of the hazard and he sent in word to have Dorsey Kreitzer be sure and pay his life insurance.

Honor Judge Ellis.—This afternoon, a party of Marshfield business men with J. M. Blake as chairman, and another party of North Bend business men headed by Mayor L. J. Simpson, is taking Congressman W. R. Ellis, of Pendleton on a trip of inspection over the Bay. The trip is being made on the Columbia. Monday, C. J. Mills has invited Congressman Ellis and a few friends to make a trip up Coos River and some of the inlets on his launch, the Beaver. Other courtesies will be extended Judge Ellis during his stay here.

The basket social given by the Women of Woodcraft last evening at Taylor's Hall, was a decided success, both socially and financially. The proceeds of the evening netted the society $18.00.

Roy McFarland, who pitched for the North Bend baseball team the latter part of the season, and wife, leave today for Portland where they will spend the winter. It is expected that they will return next year and that Mr. McFarland will manage the baseball team.

The sixteen-month-old daughter of Sherman Cutlip of Daniel's Creek, died of paralysis on Thursday, and was buried yesterday in the Coos River cemetery. This is the second child the Cutlips have lost within the past month. Services were held at the United Brethren church, the Rev. Summerlin officiating.

One of the most delightful masquerade balls held in North Bend in many months was the one given at Eckhoff hall Thursday night by the Coos Bay Orchestra. There was a large attendance and many novel and attractive costumes were worn. Prizes were offered for the best and most original costumes and were awarded as follows:

- 1st prize, bottle of perfumery to the best dressed lady, won by Miss Ellsworth.
- 2nd prize, box of cigars, to the best dressed gentleman, won by Fred Samsan.
- 3rd prize, box of stationery, won by Mary Emhoff.
- 4th prize, umbrella, to the most original gentleman, won by L. O. Frey.
- 5th prize, the most comical character, a pair of sleeve holders, won by S. S. Jennings.

PICKED THE WINNERS.

Mrs. S. A. Yoakam Proves An Excellent Judge of a Good Cow.
The Salem Statesman publishes the following incident of the Oregon State Fair, which will be read with interest by Mrs. Yoakam's Coos county friends:
"An interesting incident of the morning's judging occurred when Mrs. S. A. Yoakam of Coos county, who is in charge of the exhibits in the dairy building, visited the judging ring. A number of Hereford cows were being displayed before the judges and Mrs. Yoakam was asked if she could pick the winners. Without hesitation she pointed to three cows in succession saying they would take first, second and third premiums. When the judge had completed his awards it was found that the cows wore blue, red and white ribbons, just as picked by Mrs. Yoakam. And yet some people say that a woman cannot tell a good cow when she sees one."

Governor Hughes on Taft's Presidential Qualifications.
There is no man in the country better fitted properly to preside over and direct the varied business of the executive department than Mr. Taft. He already knows it thoroughly. He has rare executive ability. No one is better qualified than he to do the work which under the constitution the president is called upon to perform.

State Fair Board, and now a member of the board, is in Marshfield for a visit at the home of his sister, Mrs. C. A. Schilbrede. He will spend a week here, probably.
Only a few weeks in which to win that Grand Piano.
