BRYAN'S LABOR QUESTION.

William Jennings Bryan in the course of his Labor day address in Chicago exclaimed: "The labor question as it presents itself at this time is chiefly a question of distribution."

In that brief proposition Mr. Bryan discloses one of his favorite remedies for the ills of the Democratic party. Distribution is needed and needed badly-by the Bryanized Democracy. The Nebraska pretender, who insists that wealth is created by legislation rather than by labor, calls upon the grand army of American toilers to distribute their earnings among the managers of the Democratic campaign fund.

The farmers were first invited to step forward and turn their money, in sums from $1 upward, into the treasury of the party which stands for free wool, free silver and convict labor. The farmers having heartlessly ignored the appeal of the Nebraska pretender, he is willing that all others may distribute their money among the directors of his campaign, even on the modest basis of 30 cents per head.

The Bryan of 1908 is unmistakably and avowedly the Bryan of 1900 and 1896. His affectation of superior political virtue, his assumption of infallible wisdom concerning public affairs and his lofty disdain of those who prefer to be guided by the logic of past events rather than by his forebodings of evil to come are all characteristic of the man.

The personality, the eloquence and the magnetism of Taft all count when he is in the thickest of the fray.

Mr. Bryan shaves himself, and Mr. Taft patronizes only union barbers. In the meantime Mr. Kern apparently thinks that it is easier to raise whiskey than it is to raise the price of a shave.

Mr. Kern says it is no joke to be a vice president. In Mr. Kern's case the joke is in being a candidate for vice president.

Mr. Bryan says he was beaten in his former campaigns by money. He was beaten in his former campaigns by his advocacy of fifty cent dollars.

"Boss" Croker is warmly in favor of Bryan's election. Mr. Bryan once declared, "Great is Tammany, and Croker is its prophet!"

"What does Mr. Bryan do but extend the glad hand?" asks a New York paper. Well, this year he is extending the glad hat.

"Shall the people rule?" is not a new issue. It was answered in the affirmative in this country as far back as 1776.

Democrats are proposing the "Tag" game for the purpose of raising campaign funds. It is more genteel, at least, than the Taggart game for the same purpose.

Mr. Bryan refuses to discuss Mr. Taft's experience with the black bass. Mr. Bryan is fighting very shy of the colored question this year.

BOTH TEAMS PLAYED WELL

Marshfield High School's Victory Saturday Due to North Bend's New Men.

By a score of sixteen to 0, the Marshfield High School football team defeated North Bend High School on the local gridiron Saturday afternoon. The game was a good one despite the muddy grounds, and the crowd, in which both schools were well represented, was more than satisfied with the contest.

Stauff, the substitute for Russell as fullback on the North Bend team, played the star game for the visitors. The North Bend team has many new men in the lineup this season and they are not quite rounded into shape yet, but showed up well. Stutsman and Briggs, two second-team men, made a good showing on the local team. Bolt showed up well at center for the local team. North Bend being unable to make many material gains by line smashes there. Rasmussen and Clinkinbeard did some good tackling for Marshfield, and so did Lennon and DeVaul for North Bend.

Marshfield kicked off to North Bend, but the latter was unable to advance the ball. Stutsman tackling effectively. On the second down, North Bend lost the ball on a fumble. On the fifth down, H. Briggs by an end-run crossed the North Bend line for a touch down. Rasmussen tried for goal but missed.

On the second kickoff, Rasmussen prevented North Bend making any gain and the ball went to Marshfield on downs. By a series of line smashes and end-runs, Marshfield scored again and again, Rasmussen failed to kick goal.

On the next kickoff, Lennon and DeVaul did their star tackling of the game. On a fake play, Hansen got away and made a gain of fifteen yards and in two following plays Merchant and Clinkinbeard carried the ball well into North Bend's territory, but the game was stopped by time being called for the first half.

In the second half, North Bend kicked off and Stauff kept Marshfield from advancing the ball. After a couple of fumbles, Marshfield lost the ball, having failed to make the requisite gains. The ball kept near the center of the field for several downs. Finally Clinkinbeard gained ten yards on an end-run, but Marshfield then lost the ball through a series of ineffective line smashes, the ball going to North Bend within a few feet of its line. A fumble resulted in the ball falling back of the line with Rasmussen on top of it, scoring again for Marshfield. Asplund kicked goal.

With but two minutes to play, Rasmussen made twenty yards on an end run but North Bend then held them for downs.

During the progress of the game, rosters became involved in altercations a couple of times, but were separated without much difficulty. James Merchant was referee.

The lineups were as follows: North Bend Position Marshfield Sherman Bolt DeVaul Hansen Merchant Davis Asplund Van Zile S. Briggs Hevener Wieder Stauff full H. Briggs Capt. Reynolds Capt. Rasmussen Sweet Clinkinbeard Coke Stutsman Freeman Josephson
