per month to have gas in your office or business house. At times the best of electric light plants will get out of commission temporarily. It generally comes at a busy time of the day, as that is the time all the lights in a city are turned on and the central station most liable to accidents. At these times if not at all times you should have gas. It is always ready.

Will Entertain.—Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Ingram will entertain tonight in honor of the Rev. H. H. Brown and wife, who will leave shortly for the east.

Have Head Mounted.—Levi Smith and son, F. W. Smith, are having the head of the fine six-point elk which they killed recently in the Falls Creek country mounted.

Will Start Camp.—It is reported that Henry Hoeck will shortly resume work at his logging camp in Smith's Basin. The camp has been down during the summer owing to low water.

Wed at North Bend.—Friends have been apprised of the marriage of Andrew Hoben and Miss Pearl Razeen which will be solemnized in North Bend tonight. Mr. Hoben is a real estate man at North Bend and Miss Razeen is from North Inlet.

Big Catches of Fish.—Some of the biggest catches of salmon of the season were made by the fishing boats in the lower Bay last evening. As many as 400 were taken by some of the boats. Many large Chinooks were taken. Most of the catches were for the Empire cannery.

Former Resident Missing.—Wm. Palmer, a pioneer resident of Coos Bay, and his brother, Earl Palmer, are missing from their home near Bellingham, Wash., and considerable anxiety is felt over them, according to a press dispatch. While here, Mr. Palmer lived on South Coos River and left to join other members of the family in Washington.

To Open 'B' Street.—There is a movement on among the business men near 'B' and Front streets to have 'B' street opened to the Bay. The property between Front street and the Bay was recently fenced off by the C. A. Smith Lumber and Manufacturing Company on account of the wharf being in bad shape. The property is now in litigation, the city having attempted to condemn it for street purposes.

Hunters Return.—Frank Merchant, with H. Smith and Van Clark, returned last evening from a hunting trip through the mountains of Curry county. They had a very pleasant time with the exceptions of the nights spent out under trees with only blankets over them, during the heavy thunder and lightning storms. The party's bedding and all the members got soaked but they got an elk and are quite well pleased. The fun came when they tried to cure the meat by smoking it in a sort of a wigwam as the wind blew it down. Then in order to save the meat, they tried to salt it, but as they had to get their salt from sea water and that article was scarce.
