THE IDEAL NEWSPAPER

What the public wants is an independent newspaper, says a writer in the Atlantic Monthly. The reader will tolerate and like any amount of teaching tactfully and modestly offered. He will not be preached at or bullied. It is really a matter of directing public thought upon right lines than of indicating new and experimental policies. The newspaper, indeed, should be critical rather than constructive. Our constitution provides for three distinctive functions of government—legislative, judicial and executive; and it is the duty of what is correctly called in England, the fourth estate of the realm, to provide the fourth necessity, healthful criticism for all three.

It follows that a newspaper may criticize a verdict or a decision of the courts, but must not meddle with the proper and lawful handling of a case on trial. In the same way, the newspaper should watch where corrupt legislation can be defeated, in order to drag it out into that dry light where the air is always too strong for its lungs. The legislators must do the rest, and it is the business of the newspaper to hold them to their duty.

In like manner, the fullest publicity is one of the most valuable checks upon the acts of any public official. We know that the balance was most delicately adjusted by the framers of the constitution, and in this department there is a continual tendency to usurp the functions of the other two. Nothing could be better for political morals than the way in which newspapers have emphasized the correct attitude of Governor Hughes in confining himself strictly to his business, holding the other departments of constitutional government strictly responsible for theirs. In fact, a majority of the newspapers are rising above the claims of partisanship and advocating good government, no matter what party may be responsible for it.

Mr. Bryan plantively submits that he has been a tariff reformer for twenty-eight years, has advocated popular election of senators for twelve and has favored an income tax for fourteen. A good fisherman in a case like this would be inclined to try fresh bait.

Free trade means cheap men, and free silver means a cheap dollar for the payment of their wages. Mr. Bryan holds that the present dollar "buys too much." Do you believe that, Mr. Wage Earner?

President Roosevelt announced that he would put "a little ginger" into the campaign, and he did, but Mr. Bryan insists that it was tabasco.

VOTING CONTEST COUPON

NOT GOOD AFTER, OCTOBER 29, 1908. THE COOS BAY TIMES VOTING CONTEST

NEW LODGE PLANNED.

Weyerhaeuser Will Duplicate Harriman's Summer Home.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Oct. 26. Local representatives of the Weyerhaeuser Land Company announce that the officers of the large lumber concern will erect a lodge at Aspen Lake, one of the most beautiful spots in Klamath County, all the land around it being owned by the Weyerhaeusers. The place is but 12 miles from Pelican Bay, the Summer home of Mr. Harriman, and is in the midst of the best shooting ground in this entire section. Aspen Lake and its marshes are an ideal ground for ducks and geese, while the mountains surrounding it are the habitat of deer and bear. Large quantities of wild rice have been sowed in the last few weeks so as to make the marshes surrounding the lake a feeding ground for birds. It is likely that the buildings will not be begun until next Spring, but it is expected that by next Fall the head of the largest timber concern in America, together with a number of his officials, will spend several weeks in Klamath county.

The Wage Earner's Choice.

The great and vital distinction—which every wage earner should take home to himself—between Republican and Democratic revision of the tariff is that Republicans propose to revise the tariff in such a way as not to reduce the wages of or diminish the opportunities for employment of American labor, and Bryan and his followers propose to cut the tariff down as near a free trade basis as they dare, with entire disregard of the interests of American labor.

Whether the statement that Bryan as a Democratic member of the ways and means committee of the Democratic congress which passed the Wilson-Gorman tariff bill spoke of American workmen seeking protection as "public beggars" is correct or not is of very slight consequence, because his lifelong attitude toward tariff revision speaks for itself and shows that he regards beneficiaries of a protective tariff, both employers and employed, as not entitled to the benefits they receive—that is, as just what the opprobrious epithet designates them. The Republican party takes the view and upholds it in speech and in practice that American workers have a right to protection and that in revising the tariff that right must be respected. Such is the difference—as wide and deep and impassable as difference on a public question can be—between the revision the Republican party proposes and intends to effect and the so called revision that Bryan represents in his public record, his platform and his speeches.

It is for the American wage earner to decide which kind of revision he prefers—the Republican revision, which will keep the making of American goods for America, or the Bryan revision, which will give the work of making American goods to factories in England and Germany.

If you want to keep the work here and get paid for doing it, vote for Taft!

Possibly Mr. Bryan may go a step further and insist that the government shall guarantee deposits in sand banks.

It would be unkind to ask Bryan what he thinks about the suppression of the colored vote in the south.

J. SCHILLING BUYS BAKERY

J. A. DAVIS SELLS COOS BAY BAKERY AND WILL GIVE POSSESSION NOVEMBER 1.—NEW OWNER WELL KNOWN.

Joseph Schilling, for many years a resident of Coos Bay, has purchased the Coos Bay Bakery from J. A. Davis and will assume the management of it November 1.

Mr. Schilling has for some time been engaged in steam boating in this section, but before coming here was engaged in the bakery business for years and served his apprenticeship in a large and successful shop. It is his plan to continue to make the Coos Bay Bakery one of the best in this section and he will put in additional machinery and make additional changes.

Mr. Davis has not announced his future intentions. The many friends he and Mrs. Davis have made during their residence on Coos Bay hope that they will remain here.

Secretary E. R. Lake of the Northwest Fruit Growers association advises orchardists that now is the time to make selections of fruit for exhibition purposes at the meeting of the association in Portland on December 1 to 5. The state society offers a number of splendid cups, awards and ribbons to the winners in the various classes and Coos county should see to it that some of them come this way.

The case of L. W. McCurdy vs. W. H. R. Corbin, Matt Nystrom and J. R. Benson was heard in Justice of the Peace Dodge's court Tuesday before a new jury, and after being out six hours the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendants. The case had been tried a week before, but the jury at that time failed to agree on a verdict. The suit was an action in replevin for the recovery of a horse belonging to Mr. McCurdy that had been attached by Mr. Nystrom for a board bill.

March of Progress

Onward and upward are the watchwords of civilization. Coos Bay has caught the spirit of twentieth century development and everywhere there are evidences of its efforts to attain the new ideals. This store, ever in the vanguard of progress today presents to the people of Coos county an invitation to inspect a modern pharmacy, metropolitan in its appearance, modern in its appointments and equipments and up-to-the-minute in the service it can render the public in every demand that is made upon it. Always up-to-date in service we have recently made alterations in our store and this week it emerges from the hands of skilled artisans a thoroughly modern and metropolitan establishment equipped in every department to serve the people of Coos Bay and Coos County.

You will like our new store because its outward appearance gives evidence of its inward capacity to please you and be of advantage in meeting your every want. We have the first gas steam radiator ever installed in Coos County. This is only one feature that gives indication that in all that is modern we have the latest—in all that is good this store affords the best.

Come and see us, look us over and you will understand why this place is known as "the Busy Corner." It has won its way by merit of the goods we sell, and the prices that are equally pleasing and satisfactory. We want this store to be your headquarters, to be an establishment of which you may be proud and that is at all times doing its share to uphold the fair name and fame of Marshfield and Coos Bay as one of the best and most progressive places on the Pacific coast.

You are cordially invited to drop in and see what a really modern and up-to-date drug store looks like and the goods and service are in keeping with the appearance. The prices as you know are always reasonable. Come and see us.

Yours for modern merchandising.

LOCKHART & PARSONS DRUG COMPANY

"THE BUSY CORNER."

The Foundation

OF OUR FURNITURE BUSINESS is based on right to serve you right, to give to ALL regardless of PRICE.

SOMETHING a little better, of more class, greater comfort, and better finish, for less money than you pay for inferior articles.

TAKE OUR SPECIAL $2.75, $3.50, $5.25 and $6.50 rockers for example. Come in, take your time, go over them, look under them, sit in them; then, and not until you will appreciate our efforts to give you the best.

GO FURTHER

TAKE OUR SOLID OAK Dressers at $12.50, $15.00 and $18.00. Of course, there are cheaper dressers and there are better dressers, but the point is this: These are world beaters for the price asked.

AND AGAIN

WE HAVE METAL Bedsteads in white, green or blue, with angle iron connections for only $3.00. And we have dining tables for $10.50, in solid oak. We have dining chairs at all prices, but for our $3.00 diners, let it be known, they are the best for the price in America.

These Are Facts You Should Know

ASK ANY OF OUR HUNDREDS of customers, they are not hard to find. Watch where the good goods go. Good but not expensive.
