

Anniversary Reception

Saturday, November 14th is my first anniversary and to show the people of Coos Bay my appreciation for their liberal patronage during the past 12 months, I will give 10 per cent off on all purchases made that day and to further express my thanks I will have a spread of cigars free to all those who visit my Tog Shop. Drop in fellows, lets have a friendly meet and let our troubles be forgotten.

Malthoid Roofing

Mr. H. B. Eakins, of the Commercial Warehouse Co., Los Angeles, Cal., U. S. A., writes: "Now that we have had two good rains to test our Malthoid roof, we have desire to express our satisfaction in the knowledge that we have a covering over our head that does not leak. We write you regarding our pleasure in this matter from the fact that we had fully expected more or less trouble, as we did not believe it possible that so large a roof surface could be covered with any material and stand the test of a first rain, but there was not a leak due to defective roofing."

New Landing Planned.—It is proposed to construct a floating wharf at the eastside ferry slip to be used by the smaller boats plying between the bay and inlets. This will afford safe anchorage while the owners attend to their business up town, after which they can return on the ferry to their launches.

A few days ago, he attempted to step onto a moving car on the new road which the Smith-Powers Logging Company is building up from Isthmus Inlet. He had an ax in his hand and it swung against his leg, the sharp edge penetrating far into the knee.

Nasburg Interested.—Councilman Claude Nasburg who was appointed by the council to adjust the claim of the Lapp estate for damages for the opening of Cedar street, has notified the council that he cannot longer serve in that capacity as he has property interests similar to the Lapps and that he may want to enter a claim against the city for damages also. Councilman Sacchi and Savage will probably act now.

LIQUOR DEALERS MEET AND DISCUSS BUSINESS

Coos County Protective Association Holds Regular Session In North Bend On Tuesday.

The Coos County Protective Association, an organization which has been in existence since early in 1908, held its regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in North Bend. The organization is composed of liquor dealers and members with allied interests. The meeting of Tuesday was attended by twenty members from the several corners and cities of the county. The freedom formerly accorded the liquor traffic in coast counties, including Coos, has in the past year been curtailed in this county until restrictions are as severe here as in any part of the state. The Protective Association was formed for the purpose of binding the dealers in Coos county into an organization to compel strict obedience to the provisions of the liquor laws. That this purpose is being fulfilled is best evidenced through the absence of prosecutions for violations. The meeting of yesterday was said by members present to have been the best meeting the association has ever held and the desire for the public to understand their position towards good government and strict observance of the law was a leading feature of the meeting. The next regular monthly meeting will be held in Bandon on the fourth of December.

CHANGE COQUILLE TRACKS.

City and Local Railway Consider Negotiations.

F. J. Schroeder and son, Frank, drove over from Coquille today to consult a physician. Mr. Schroeder reports that in regard to the city purchasing the waterfront and giving it to the Southern Pacific railroad for a right-of-way, nothing has been done yet, except that General Manager Mills and engineers have gone over the route. It will cost the city about $20,000 to buy the right-of-way and while the property owners on Front street and the railroad company are desirous of making the change, it is not thought likely that anything will be done by the city.

CITIZENS LEAGUE NOTICE.

Nominations will be made at meeting Thursday, November 12, 1908, at 8 p. m., at Finnish Hall. All members are earnestly requested to attend.

C. A. JOHNSON, Chairman.
F. M. FRIEDBERG, Secretary.
