OBITUARY.

W. H. Ray was born in Jackson county, Tenn., March 2nd, 1827, and removed with his parents to southern Missouri, when about ten years of age. He obeyed the Gospel, and was baptised at the age of 19. He was united in marriage with Mary E. Clinkinbeard, April 5th, 1848. Twelve children were born to this union, four of whom died in infancy. Four sons and four daughters were at his bedside when he died, Nov. 7th, at 5:30 p. m., 1908, at the age of 81, years, 8 months and 5 days. Two sons, living in Kansas, and one daughter, living in Idaho, could not be present on account of sickness. He was laid to rest in the Norway cemetery, near Myrtle Point, Oregon, Nov. 9th.

He was a close student of the Bible, and was always ready to contend earnestly for the Faith once delivered to the Saints. He leaves his aged wife who is past 80 years, besides six sons and two daughters and a host of other relatives and other friends to mourn, but not without hope. The undersigned spoke words of comfort to the bereaved ones.

H. P. BOLEN.

THE NEW DISEASES.
It's funny how these doctor men Discover so unceasing Diseases new to kill men off, The frightful list increasing; Bad lingering colds we used to have, They call them now bronchitis; The old-time sore throats of our youth Are changed to tonsillitis.

The leg-aches that we used to have, By clever mesmerism, They've made us thing's a new disease, Sciatic rheumatism. If old-time stomach aches arise, They're likely to invite us into a hospital to cut Us for appendicitis.

But here's the latest that is out From medical profession— I fortunately have the proofs Of truth in my possession; I knew a man who poison took In error, and to cure him, He drank four quarts or more of milk; A neighbor did assure him.

That this would act emetical And cure him in a minute; He said 'twould clear his stomach clean Of all the poison in it, A thunder storm was raging then; The sick man, I profess, Groaned louder than the thunder storm And died in deep distress.

They called a neighboring doctor in Who took his carving knife And cut the dead man open to Find out what took his life; Then to the mourning family gave This diagnosis comic: He said the man's disease was caused By smear-case on the stomach.

Perhaps 'twas so, I cannot say— I am no science stabber; That doctor said the milk was turned By thunder into clabber. At once the gastric forces on That clabbered milk did seize And quickly it was worked into: A mass of cottage cheese.

MORAL:
Ah, me, the new discoveries That medicine can make; We should be happy to get sick For new discoveries sake. The girl had been three weeks in the employ of an artistic family; but her time had been by no means wasted. Her mistress was giving her instructions as to the dinner. "Don't forget the potatoes," enjoined the lady. "No, ma'am," was the reply; "will you 'ave 'em in their jackets or in the nood?"

At a dinner recently, William J. Bryan was joking about his repeated attempts to be elected president, altho Mr. Bryan considers them no joke, at that. "After a time," he said, "I shall be in the position of the man, somewhat worse for wear, who came into a dance in Texas. The floor manager saw him and led him out. He came back. Then the floor manager pushed him out. He came back. Finally, the floor manager kicked him out, and he rolled down a flight of stairs. At the bottom of the stairs he considered the matter. 'I know what it means,' he said. 'They can't fool me. Those people in there do not want me to attend that dance.'"
