TURKEY INDUSTRY IN OREGON.

Shipments of turkeys from Douglas county this year will probably not exceed a total of 15,000 head, against about 20,000 last year, says the Roseburg Review. For the Thanksgiving trade, the shipments have aggregated about 10,000 head, and it is estimated by local dealers that not over 3,000 more will follow for Christmas and New Year's.

The shortage of turkeys this year is ascribed to an unfavorable season for their propagation. The price received by the growers, however, is on an average 4 cents per pound more than paid last year, and the highest in 12 years.

On deliveries closed during September for the Philippine shipment, growers were paid on an average of $2.25 per head. Figuring that this rate will prevail during the December deliveries, the sum of nearly $35,000 will have been disbursed among the growers for outside shipments during the year.

To the shipments for the Thanksgiving trade, Oakland shipped about 4,500 and Roseburg contributed about 3,200 birds, while perhaps 2,000 more were consigned from Yoncalla and Drain.

WITH THE TOAST AND TEA

GOOD EVENING. Carefully separate in your mind the dark and the sunny thoughts and give utterance only to the latter.

TWO MEN. There was a man who went through life and found The way both dark and hard—Fate willed it so; And facing much that others could not see, He overcame much that they did not know.

Another man there was whose lines of life Were cast in pleasant places; not a care He had. While others struggled helplessly, The world to him was always bright and fair, Because he smiled so much, men would insist That he was just an ideal optimist

Which, think you, of the two, deserved The greater credit? Whose side would you take? The man who fought his fight—and sometimes smiled, Or he who smiled—but had no fight to make?

JACK APPLETON. Duty calls! Idleness whistles. A drawback is better than a setback.

minade Club of a well-known Coos Bay man the other day.

"Really, I should like to: what part shall I take?" he quickly responded. "Two tickets for four dollars," she responded and soon the club had a new associate member.

"In view of the hard times," said the spokesman of the delegation, "the church is obliged to ask you to consent to a cut in salary."

"Very well," responded the pastor, "the smaller labor involved in the collection of a smaller salary is worth considerable."

"Jack Flanagan left some verses with me for you that were very amusing," said Jake Goldie in response to "Do you know anything new today?" "You don't say. I didn't know he was a humorous poet."

"Neither does he," interrupted John Goss who happened along just then.
