MARSHFIELD SCHOOL NEWS

Millie Condie of British Columbia, has entered the Second Grade.

The football game on Thanksgiving will be the last of the season for the High School team.

The Fifth Grade have been doing some illustrated work in physiology on the subject of muscles.

Miss Eddy's room was decorated with ivy and chrysanthemums and the children gave a short program in the afternoon.

The Fourth Grade have been doing some very good work in water colors. The best efforts are on exhibition in the class-room.

The Seventh Grade, Miss Bennett's room, was decorated with huckleberry and evergreens for their regular monthly rhetoricals.

The First Grade 'A' and 'B' greatly enjoyed a graphophone concert on Friday last when Roland Noble brought his machine to school.

The first three primary grades are practising on their Christmas operatta which will be given in the Assembly Hall on the afternoon of December 19.

The High School Literary Society are preparing a program for their next meeting which will take place in the Assembly Hall on the evening of December 19.

Miss Chapman's room had some very good freehand drawing of turkeys pumpkins and pilgrims on the blackboard, the work of Woner Kronquist and Ernest Holmes.

The German Class of the High School are becoming very much interested in the study of that language and some good sessions of the class have been held this week.

The Second Grade sand table has been arranged to represent a scene from colonial life. The houses, church and fort were constructed by William Hall, Joe Schilling and Roland Noble.

The Sixth Grade has recently purchased one hundred colored studies of subjects suitable for water color and nature work. The designs are very beautiful and the class feel more than repaid for their effort in securing them.

The Fifth Grade, Miss Landreth's room, was decorated with free-hand drawing and stencil work. The programs, made by the class were in the shapes of pumpkins and turkeys. A display of map drawing of the separate countries of Europe was also shown.

Several of the grades celebrated Thanksgiving by appropriate exercises on Wednesday afternoon. The Eighth Grade had very pretty decorations of school and college pennants and free hand drawing work on the black-boards. Souvenir programs were decorated with footballs. The committee on decoration were: Eugenia Schilling, Ed. Weider, Grace Kruse, Leslie Isaacson, Ruth Horton, Harold Briggs. In the afternoon in all the schools a part of the time was devoted to the study of the life and deeds of Columbus.

An amusing reply was given by one of the pupils. A teacher had told the class of the wonderful voyage of Columbus and how he insisted on continuing the voyage after the other men were clamoring to return. Then she asked: "Who was Columbus?" with a view of hearing how well they had followed her talk.

One little hand went up.

"Well, Johnny, who was he?" asked the teacher.

"Columbus was the gem of the ocean," was the answer.

GOOD EVENING.

MAETERLINCK.

"All for you!" the lover cried
To the maid with eyes of blue;
"All the world I put aside—
All for you!

"I will gain a heap of gold,
Jewels rare, of every hue—
Earth's delights I will unfold,
All for you!

"All my life I consecrate
To your service, I will do
Deeds that men shall reckon great—
All for you!

"I will"——but as if in doubt,
She refused to hear him through,
Murmuring "That will be about
All for you!"

—Exchange.

The Philadelphia mint reports that it is easier now to pile up $5 gold pieces. It certainly will be, now that the Roosevelt policies are to be continued.

America's most beautiful girl has married. Wonder if she'll continue to look lovely getting up in the morning to build the kitchen fire and hanging out the weekly wash?

"Oh, he's too young," remarked a junior high school school girl to her chum in discussing a member of the Marshfield High School football team the other day. "Why, he's two years older than you are," came the response. "But he actually smacks every time he kisses," retorted the first one. Then they began to discuss what seats they would like to have in the new high school.

"Katrina," began a Coos Bay bride of a few months, who had just reached the stage of being anxious to have her husband at the office on time, the other day, "I don't presume that you—er—would object to my getting an alarm clock." It was rather timidly spoken as several breakfasts had been late in succession. "Not at all ma'am," replied the maid as she rubbed her eyes." Them things never disturb me at all."

The crabbed bachelor and the aged spinster sat disconcertedly at a Coos Bay musicale the other night.

The selections were apparently entirely unfamiliar to the gentlemen; but when the "Wedding March" of Mendelssohn was begun he pricked up his ears.

"That sounds familiar," he said. "I'm not strong on these classical pieces, but there's a good 'un! What is it?" The spinster cast down her eyes.

"That," she told him demurely, "is the 'Maiden's Prayer!'"
