WATER FRONT IS UP AGAIN

City Officials Have Lively Time Over Robert Marsden's New Building.

Yesterday and this morning there was a lively scramble among the city officials to ascertain whether Robert Marsden was violating any ordinance in erecting a frame warehouse in the rear of the C. A. Johnson furniture store, which will take up practically all of the dock. Marshal Carter told Mr. Marsden that he should cease work until he secured a permit from the city council, but Mr. Marsden could not be prevailed upon to cease as he could not be shown that he was violating any ordinance.

Councilman Nelson yesterday afternoon appealed to several city officials to have the proposed building stopped, but in vain. Marshal Carter laid the matter before Mayor Straw and City Engineer Sandberg but they did not do anything. This morning, City Engineer Sandberg left word for Marshal Carter to have the work stopped but he could not.

City Attorney Farrin and Recorder Upton are out of town and as to whether Mr. Marsden is violating any ordinance or not could not be ascertained.

It was the intention of the city council to have the water front cleaned up and a wide street or thoroughfare left along the outer edge of the dock but whether they protected themselves or not had not been ascertained today.

The matter will probably be made a special matter of business at tonight's meeting of the city council.

As the water front was excluded from the fire limits in the recent building ordinance, Mr. Marsden and his friends claim that he cannot be prohibited from erecting a frame building on his property. At any rate, they claim Mr. Marsden has as much right to utilize his water front property as have the other owners of water front property on both sides of him.
