Due to Blasting.—Councilman J. N. Nelson declares that the tremors which many here thought were due to a distant earthquake were caused entirely by the blasting of the piling at the new ferry slip. He says the shocks were felt at identically the time the three blasts were exploded. Others declare that it was dynamite—that an earthquake tremor produces a sensation on one who has ever experienced it that cannot be mistaken. W. S. Turpen is still positive that it was a quake.

Goes to Port Orford.—The Wilhelmina will sail tomorrow for Port Orford with freight. Port Orford merchants say that they are short of all kinds of provisions and must have goods soon. Gold Beach and Wedderburn are also short provisions and must have goods soon. But it practically is impossible for a vessel as large as the Wilhelmina to be certain of sufficient water on the bar to cross in and out so the Wilhelmina won't venture there. The Osprey is still tied up at North Bend.

AT THE THEATRE.

The Tacoma Ledger has the following concerning the singer who appears at the Masonic Opera House, January 27, under the auspices of the Chamainade club:

"Of Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab, Portland's charming lyric soprano, many flattering reports have been received, and there was much interest felt in this, her first appearance in this city. The verdict, judged by the rapturous applause which followed her numbers, was of entire approval. Mrs. Schwab has a voice of exquisite purity and freshness, and she uses it in the most delightful manner. Her appearance is especially pleasing, and her singing goes straight to the heart, winning her many friends, who will be happy to welcome her again. A pretty conceit of Mrs. Schwab is the practice she makes of singing rose songs in honor of the Rose city.

Next Saturday evening, January 16, the Keane Company will be seen to advantage in the latest New York success "Facing the Music." This play has never been seen in the smaller towns, and where ever presented has created and has received the highest notices. There will be five vaudeville acts.

FOR CLEANER SHOWS.

L. A. MILLS Writes Concerning Moving Picture Theatres.

Editor Times:—

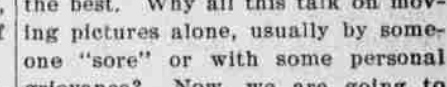

There has been considerable discussion of late concerning the moving picture shows. While I admit there are pictures sometimes shown that are hardly what we would like, it is very hard to have everything of the best. Why all this talk on moving pictures alone, usually by someone "sore" or with some personal grievance? Now, we are going to wage war on the moving picture man—make an "example" of him, I suppose. To shut out crime is all good and well, nothing would suit me better, but if it is put out of our moving picture theatres we would also have to stop its being acted out in the larger theatres. If this were not done it would show unjust discrimination and unfairness in the extreme. Nine out of ten of our leading plays have crime or infidelity of husband or wife in them. The proportion is much greater than in the moving picture drama. If the plans of the agitators are fully carried out, few theatrical companies visiting the city but would be liable to arrest and possibly thirty days.

There are various things to corrupt the youth in Marshfield. For instance, the "Diamond Dick," "Nick Carter," and other publications sold openly on the newstands, that tend to make a hero of a criminal. Crime has been acted on the Marshfield stage for years—strange that no one ever thought of its being detrimental to the mind of the youth before.

I am in favor of making these things better, but let us make a clean up all along the line.

L. A. MILLS.
