Breaks Arm.—Rueb Brainard sustained a broken arm in accident while working on the Noble pile driver yesterday. The fracture will probably keep him from work for some time although he is now able to be about.

Services at Portland.—The last services over the remains of Mrs. Schneiderhahn of North Bend were conducted at the Portland Crematorium last Friday afternoon by the Rev. John E. Elliott of Albany. The services just preceded the incineration and were attended only by immediate relatives and a few close friends. The ashes were placed in niche at Portland.

Chandler Steward Here.—Henry Hodar, the steward for the new Chandler hotel, arrived on the M. F. Plant from San Francisco. He has been identified with some of the leading hotels in California and comes very highly recommended to Messrs. McKeown and LaChance. He was with the Jefferson in Frisco for three years and also served in the El Comado and Del Monte near Los Angeles. He also served at the Catalina Islands.

MRS. MAY DEARBORN SCHWAB HAS BIRD-LIKE VOICE

Portland Oregonian Praises Soprano Who is to Appear in Marshfield Soon.

Thomas' aria, "Polonaise" from "Mignon" will be one of the opening songs by Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab at the concert to be given by the Chaminade club at the Masonic Opera House, January 27. The Portland Oregonian in mentioning Mrs. Schwab's singing of this solo in a concert in Portland says: "Mrs. Dearborn Schwab was in excellent voice, and the bird-like quality of her vocalism delighted her hearers in the "Polonaise," from Mignon. She deserved the hearty encore she received."

Seats are now on sale at W. J. Butler's office.

NOTICE.

The North Bend city council did not meet Tuesday owing to failure to secure a quorum. In fact Councilman August Hoelling and Recorder Derbshire were the only city officials who showed up. Another attempt will be made next Tuesday night.

THE THEATRE.

The Oregonian says of Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab's appearance as "Elsie" in Sir Arthur Sullivan's dramatic cantata, "The Golden Legend":

"It seems as if Sullivan expressly wrote the part of Elsie for a lyric soprano with the fine, spirituelle personality of Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab. It would have been an error to have given the part to a dramatic soprano. Mrs. Schwab never sang better, and it was an inspiration to hear such clear, bird-like soprano notes."

Mrs. Schwab appears in the Chaminade Club concert to be given at the Masonic Opera House, January 27. Seats now on sale at Masonic Opera House.

Portland where he accompanied the body of Mrs. Schneiderhahn and arranged for the cremation of the body. He says that Portland weather is the worst ever and that he is mighty glad he lives on Coos Bay. He says that about a foot or eighteen inches of slush make the streets almost impassable and the weather is almost as the street conditions.
