

What a "Cold" Is

Nearly everyone at one time or another suffers from this distressing ailment but few know the scientific cause of it. A "cold" is due to the sudden checking of the elimination through the pores of the skin of certain effete products that are deleterious if retained. For instance, a person becomes considerably overheated, the metabolic forces of the body are thereby accelerated and the skin is necessarily more active than usual in eliminating the increased waste products produced in this condition. Now, let this person step directly into a cold atmosphere or sit in a draft, and what happens? The pores of the skin become contracted and closed and the blood becomes laden with these impurities which it tries to throw off through the mucous membranes. What results? There is a general feeling of languor and weariness, the eyes become watery and red, the mucous membrane of the nose becomes swollen and stuffy, being followed by increased secretion, and a severe headache, together with pains and aches in the muscles and joints, ensues. The throat becomes dry, irritated and inflamed, producing a troublesome cough, and a severe hoarseness. In fact, all the troublesome symptoms of a "cold" may be experienced.

To Cure a Cold

One of the best remedies that we have ever encountered and one that we guarantee is

LAXACOLD and is composed of efficient drugs for the relief of the complaints for which it is intended, and these ingredients are scientifically blended so as to get their most beneficial effects.

"LAXACOLD" is put up in an elegant form, and, being sugar-coated, is pleasant to take.

For the relief of a "common cold," there is nothing more efficacious and prompt. In ordinary, uncomplicated cases, it will give relief in a day and a night. The price is only 25 cents.

Then we have all the popular and time-tried and tested remedies. Among them are the following:

Laxative Bromo Tablets	25c
"For a Cold" tablets	25c

Starts Store.—Mr. Morton, a brother of Chief Clerk Morton at Libby, has opened a general store in the building at the south end of Laurel street, which was recently completed by Mrs. Early.

Give Social.—The ladies of the M. E. church gave an informal social in the church last evening. It was largely attended and proved one of the most enjoyable of the many pleasant socials the M. E. ladies have given.

Roads are Bad.—Postmaster LaPalme, of Eastside, returned today from a visit with Lawrence Jennings at the latter's ranch at Remote. Mr. LaPalme says that he enjoyed it immensely even though he got a cold shower bath every day. He says the roads are in bad shape, trees having fallen across them in places and mud being almost impassible in others.

Newly-Weds Sail.—The Nann Smith sailed today for Bay Point with a cargo of lumber. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Holmberg were passengers, going on their honeymoon trip. Mrs. Olson also accompanied Capt. Olson. Some one had decorated the ship for the "Newly-weds" and in the absence of the real thing the baby of the cartoon was replaced with a large picture of the infant on the side of the ship with the "Da-Da" in as big type as the artist could draw. The crowds on the wharf as the Nann Smith went by were wondering if it was for the benefit of Capt. and Mrs. Olson or Mr. and Mrs. Holmberg.

Return to Hawaii.—Hugh M. Coke, editor and manager of the Maui News, published at Walluku, Hawaii, will leave soon for California and then return to the islands. He has been visiting his brothers, Thomas Coke and J. S. Coke here. Mr. Coke's visit to this country at this time was for the purpose of going to Washington to have one of the native judges removed on charges of extorting money from the ignorant natives and misappropriating government funds, but since his arrival, Mr. Coke was informed that President Roosevelt had acted on the charges and removed the judge. While the success of his business calls him back to the islands, Mr. Coke retains a warm spot in his heart for Coos Bay and the realization of the competence which is rapidly coming his way is likely to witness his return here to make his permanent home.

Personal Notes

MRS. THOMPSON of Libby, is in Marshfield today.

GEO. A. GAGE of Coquille, is in Marshfield on business.

THAD GREEN of Port Orford, is in Marshfield on business.

NELS. P. NELSON of Prosper, is in Marshfield today on business.

MISS LEAH ROGERS of South Coos River, was the guest of Marshfield friends yesterday.

J. J. CLINKINBEARD of Coos River, was in Marshfield today to attend the fruit growers meeting.

FRED. AISENHEIMER, who recently underwent an operation here, will soon be able to return to his home in Gardiner.

W. J. LAPALME, the Eastside postmaster, returned last evening from Remote where he has been visiting. Mr. LaPalme has under consideration a proposition to acquire some land in that vicinity.

T. C. RUSSELL, superintendent of the Beaver Hill mine, is in Marshfield on business. The mine has been rather handicapped lately by some of its machinery being broken but repairs are expected soon.

BERT PETERSON, the pugilist, demonstrated his powers of endurance and established a new method in training by walking from Roseburg to Sumner yesterday, stopping at the home of his grand-parents, Mrs. and Mrs. F. J. Sherwood at that place. He will arrive in Marshfield today.

EUGENE CROSTHWAITE left today for Muskogee, Okla., where he was summoned as a witness in the United States Court in a land fraud case. Mr. Crosthwaite was allotting clerk in the government land office and it is thought that he can give some detail information concerning entry on the Indian lands in contention.

E. K. JONES, who returned yesterday after a month's business trip through California and Oregon, says he never saw such rains and floods. The first glimpse of sunshine he had in the entire time was when he reached Coos Bay. On his trip from San Francisco to Portland via railway he was 25 hours late caused by washouts, the American bridge at Sacramento being completely demolished.

JOKES PROLONG LIFE.

Laughs, Beer and Tobacco Octogenarian's Recipe for a Long and Happy Life.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—Francis Brandeweide, of Alton, the oldest office holder in the city, and now eighty-three years old, believes he has solved the problem of how to live to be one hundred and four. He would laugh himself there. Here is the recipe of this octogenarian and the rule he practices:

Laugh all you can, get hold of all the funny stories you can and think of them, chew tobacco, drink little beer each day, and always get up from the table hungry. One year ago, while clerk of the city court he became ill and his family despaired of his getting well. Brandeweide asked his physician to call his friends in and tell any good stories they might know. He also demanded a plug of tobacco and a bottle of beer. "In spite of protests the order was followed and Brandeweide began to mend.

Card of Thanks.

We, the directors of the Pioneer Grocery Co., take this means of expressing our thanks to Ivy Condron, our General Manager for the past four years, for the efficient manner in which he has brought the business to its present good standing, and sincerely hope and believe that success will follow him through life.

The wedding of Lawrence Holmberg and Miss Mae Swanson was solemnized at the C. A. Smith mill offices Wednesday evening at 6:30, the Rev. H. I. Rutledge of the Marshfield Methodist Episcopal church officiating. Enoch Holmberg was the groomsmen and Miss Esther Swanson the bridesmaid. Only relatives and immediate friends witnessed the ceremony which took place in the front suite of rooms of the club building which were tastefully decorated with Cedar boughs for the occasion. Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at 7 o'clock. Congratulatory speeches were made by a number of Mr. Holmberg's fellow workers who had been invited to the dinner and a fitting response was made by the groom. Mr. Holmberg was subjected to much good natured bantering in the festivities that followed, one of the most amusing of which was his appearance as the defendant in a mock trial. He was convicted of getting married, a violation of the laws of "Bohemia" but he quickly met the penalty, a fine of $5 worth of Millicoma club tickets. Those present were Mesdames Swanson, J. E. Oren, Otto Oren, David Nelson, A. H. Powers, Ward Blake and Matthison and the Misses Tellefson, Matthison and Swanson and Messrs. Booth, Bengstrom, Brown, Conrad, Berry, Johnson, Lofgren, Wilde, Ekblad, Ostlund, Powers, Holmberg, Quist and Payne. Following a honeymoon trip to San Francisco and California points, the young couple will make their home here, the groom being an efficient employee of the C. A. Smith Lumber and Manufacturing Company.

The Marshfield council of the Knights of Columbus were hosts to a pleasant party at the Redmen's hall last evening. Cards and dancing and music made the evening a very enjoyable one. Refreshments were served. There was a large attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Warwick entertained the Oklahoma Whist Club last Wednesday evening. The prizes were won by Thayer Grimes and Mrs. A. V. Selby. Mrs. Farringer will entertain the club a week from next Wednesday evening.

The marriage of Miss Dee Turpen and George Langford at Trinity Episcopal church in San Francisco Wednesday of this week was of much interest to the many friends of the bride on Coos Bay. She is the daughter of Judge Turpen of Marshfield. She has been away from here for several years, following her profession as a nurse in the California city. They will reside in California where the groom is a well known fruit rancher and the best wishes of scores of friends will follow them to their new home.

TONIGHT—James Keane Company in THE ENSIGN at Masonic Opera House.

and it gives the audience an inkling of the great and broad heart that beat within the breast of our late martyred President. As usual James Keane was perfect as was Miss West. J. Lionel Swift as the old fashioned sailor was faultless to a degree. He acted out the great role of the old sea dog in a manner worthy of mention of the severest theatrical critics. We cannot say too much of every one in the cast. Space forbids our giving a full page of praise to James Keane and his superb organization.

The Ensign will be produced at the Masonic Opera House this evening and the house is practically sold out. The people of Marshfield are willing to grasp a good thing when they have it.
