Improve Building.—Alex Johnson of the firm of Johnson & Seline, is making very marked improvements and adding to the better looks of his place of business on the waterfront.

Lumber For Building.—The first lumber for the Eagles' new hall on South Second street, was delivered this morning and the work will soon begin under Al. Hall as superintendent.

Durrand Very Low.—James Durrand of Flagstaff, who was injured in the North Bend Box Factory a couple of weeks ago, was reported very low at Mercy hospital this afternoon.

W. O. W. Men Coming.—J. P. Smith, district organizer of the W. O. W. and F. B. Tichenor, general organizer of the order, are expected here this month to conduct a special membership campaign in Coos and Curry counties.

Go to Bandon.—A number of Coos Bay Knights of Pythias went to Bandon today to attend the annual county convention of the Order. No delegates were named from the local lodges, the understanding being that all members who could get away should attend.

Surveyors On Coos River.—It is reported here that Mr. Purdy who has been endeavoring to secure an electric line franchise in Roseburg and who has announced that he will build an electric line to Coos Bay, has a gang of surveyors at work on North Coos River above Allegany.

Merchant Wins.—James Merchant won the progressive pool tournament at the Bird Billiard Parlors, Saturday night with a score of 252, Stanley Briggs was second with 246 and Bud Whittemore was third with 232. There was a big crowd present and the event was one of the most interesting and successful recently pulled off on the Bay.

Plant Is Delayed.—The M. F. Plant was delayed on her trip up by the strong head winds and had not crossed in at 3 o'clock. She will probably reach her new dock on North Front street tonight or in the morning.

Fairview Wins.—In a double header at Sumner yesterday, the Fairview team took both games. Fairview defeated Eastside in the morning by a score of seven to six and defeated Sumner in the afternoon by a score of fifteen to twelve. There was large crowd present, many who went up to the dance Saturday evening staying over for the games yesterday.

Open Branch Here.—The Portland Flouring Mill Company has arranged to put in a branch supply house here to supply this section. H. W. Painter who has been representing the company in this territory has leased a room in the Alliance warehouse and will open an office on South Front street, just south of the Stutsman real estate office. He will carry a full supply of feed and flour.

Many On Excursion.—About 150 from the Bay went to Bandon on the special excursion yesterday and enjoyed one of the finest outing trips imaginable. The day was fine and there was not a hitch going or coming. The crowd was not as large and was expected but this probably is due to the fact that it was the first trip of the season. Other excursions will be arranged later.

Fast Auto Trip.—Tom Castle made a time record with his automobile Saturday. He took Tom Madden, out for a driving after his long confinement with a broken leg. Bill Shupe and Price Davis were also of the party. Mr. Castle started over to Eastport and return, six miles, in nine minutes. The gentlemen could do nothing but hold on to the auto and their breath, and after this they are going to walk.

"Mind your own business," is Hetty Green's advice to women in general. But if you think there will be a change in the line of talk at afternoon teas in the near future, you have another guess coming.

FORTUNE FOR

Great Possibilities of Coquille Valley Land Proven By Experience.

A. T. Train, who has a berry and chicken ranch about a mile and a half east of Myrtle Point, is another who is furnishing proof that energy and perseverance can wring from the fertile soil of this section profits in gold dollars, and from hill land at that. Two years ago Mr. Train acquired 33 acres of hill land, paying at the rate of $30 per acre. At that time there were but few acres of the piece under cultivation, dilapidated house and no outbuildings worth mentioning. He placed practically his entire capital in a payment on the land and went to work. In two years he has six hen houses containing about 400 laying hens; hatched 800 chickens this spring; has an acre in strawberries, estimated at about 10,000 plants, has out 200 fruit and walnut trees, has considerable land set in garden and several acres in small grain, corn and potatoes. As an income from his investment his chickens are now bringing him between $90 and $100 a month; he expects to sell between $500 and $600 worth of berries from his acre patch, and as a side issue has his garden, his cows and other aids to living. A patch set out to loganberries promises an abundant yield this year and prospects are that $50 or a $100 worth of this fruit will be harvested. Last year he sold $50 of sweet corn from three-fourths of an acre, and then marketed but about one-half of the crop. On his place he has twenty acres of fine second growth timber that he is not worrying about. He thinks he can well afford to reserve that for his children and it should be worth considerable to them in twenty or thirty years. This spring he has wheat 15 inches in height and oats almost as large, which is better development than is shown on some of the bottom lands. Last year he raised a celery plant that weighed two and a half pounds, showing possibilities in celery culture. It takes no stretch of imagination to forecast that with a continuance of his perseverance and a fair share of fortune, Mr. Train will be independently rich in a number of years. If he can do what he has done in two years with raw hill land, it can be surmised that the future has something good in store for him. Mr. Train will estimate the possible value of his home, but Mrs. Train refuses to name a price. "I consider it almost priceless," she says, "I am perfectly satisfied and happy and do not wish to try a change." Mr. and Mrs. Train have a large and happy family of children and their lot may well be envied by those who assume more "style" but have less happiness, comfort and good health. — Myrtle Point Enterprise.

 NORTH BEND YESTERDAY

Practise Game at Fairgrounds Diamond Ends With Score of Seven to Six—Many Errors.
 Marshfield defeated North Bend in a practise game at the Marshfield fairgrounds diamond yesterday afternoon by a score of seven to six. Neither team had the regular men, having to pick up some extra men on the grounds. Of the men picked up, Collins, a member of the United States Artillery surveying party, proved the star. He played left field for Marshfield and put up a strong game in the field and at the bat. Both sides had many errors. Thompson and Cowan were the battery for Marshfield and Hull and Wilson for North Bend.
