

COOS BAY LUMBER DEAL IS SAID TO BE MORE EXTENSIVE

Rumor That Menasha Wood-ware Company Will Buy Simpson Holdings.

HENRY HEWITT, JR., LIKELY IN DEAL

Official Statement of Matter Can't Be Obtained For a Few Days.

Following up the report on the Bay yesterday that the Nelson Lumber Company had acquired the North Bend Lumber mill, another rumor was about this morning that the Menasha Woodware Company was negotiating for the purchase of the entire holdings of the Simpson Lumber Company on Coos Bay.

The Menasha Woodware Company has extensive holdings of timber in this section. The Smith family which controls the Menasha Woodware Company, are relatives of Henry Hewitt, Jr., of Tacoma, owner of the Coos Bay Gas and Electric Company.

Last year when Mr. Hewitt was here, he personally took up the big deal with Capt. A. M. Simpson, L. J. Simpson and Elijah Smith of the Southern Oregon Company.

Of course, the rumor of the present deals have grown in transmission and some have it all consummated but as near as The Times can ascertain, there is nothing definite on the matter.

YELLOW PERIL IS TAKEN UP

W. A. Gates of California, Tells Charity Conference of Danger to Coast.

(By Associated Press.) BUFFALO, N. Y., June 11.—That

"immigration from the Orient to this country is worked up by steamship lines and assisted by emigration agencies there organized," is the charge made by W. Almont Gates, secretary of the State Board of Charities and Correction of California in an address before the National Conference of Charities and Correction here.

He said in part: "Conditions of living in Oriental countries are very much harder than in America. Centuries of toil and privation have trained the Oriental to do the largest amount of work at the least cost of subsistence.

"Chinese immigration to California commenced with the days of gold and continually increased until stopped by the exclusion law of 1882, at which time the annual increase of Chinese exceeded that of the white race. Then the Japanese commenced to arrive, and from 1900 to 1908, one hundred and nine thousand were admitted through the Custom Houses.

"When the Oriental arrives he must find work, and to get it will under-bid all others. Even then it is the highest wage he ever earned. He gets employment, first in the lowest fields of labor, works long hours and does fair work, so intrenching himself. Then he strikes to exclude all white men, after which higher wages are demanded, and next he demands the management of the business. Japanese capital is now making investments, especially in the purchase of farm lands.

"The Oriental comes here, not for a home, but for gold. He has sent to the Orient over eight hundred million dollars in the last thirty years. He brings with him centuries of superstition and prejudice. His moral standards are low; usually he has no family. According to the census of 1900, one out of eighteen of the Chinese of this country and one out of twenty-four of the Japanese are females. Of these women but few are virtuous. Most are prostitutes and some are slaves, bought and sold as chattels.

"The white man cannot build a home, care for a wife and children, perform the duties of an American citizen and compete for his daily bread with this wifeless, childless yellow man. "The white and yellow races have now met on the Pacific, and the contest for supremacy has commenced. What the results will be, we cannot tell. We are certain, however, that our duty lies in preserving those ideals of this Christian civilization which are the foundation stones of the Republic. To do this, the Oriental immigrant must be denied admission to these shores."
