

MARSHFIELD LODGE NO. 1160

exercises of the evening were:

B. W. Levens, Baker City, Ore., No. 338.

A. A. Fuller, The Dalles, Ore., No. 303.

D. W. McLaughlin, Berkeley, Cal., No. 1002.

A. E. Adelsperger, Roseburg, Ore., No. 326.

Fred. C. Gilbert, Tacoma, Wash., No. 174.

S. D. Magnes, San Francisco, Cal., No. 3.

R. G. Gregory, Baker City, Ore., No. 338.

W. W. Cardwell, Roseburg, Ore., No. 326.

At the conclusion of the installation ceremonies the lodge adjourned to the Chandler hotel where an elaborate banquet had been prepared. The dining room and tables were beautifully decorated and an orchestra dispensed some tuneful and appropriate music. The menu and service were both excellent and served as a most superb preparatory basis of the feast of reason and the flow of soul that followed. E. D. McArthur acted as toast-master and proved a past master of the art as well. The toasts were for the most part impromptu and the happy introductions by the toastmaster injected a spirit of informality that coupled with Elks' good fellowship made the occasion memorable.

The following program of toasts was rendered:

"The Ladies"—M. C. Maloney.

"Lead Kindly Light"—Seymour H. Bell.

"Who Dealt"—B. W. Levens.

"The Baby Lodge"—L. J. Simpson.

"Balm of Gilead or the Milk of Human Kindness"—J. W. Flanagan.

"The Oldest Elk"—A. A. Fuller.

"B. P. O. E."—W. W. Cardwell.

"Visitors"—D. W. McLaughlin.

"Hang Together or Hang Separately"—J. D. Goss.

"Breaking Old Ties"—H. W. Skinner.

"Finance"—S. D. Magnes.

"Our Order"—W. S. Levens.

Running like a thread of gold through the warp and woof of wit and wisdom, humor and philosophy of the toasts was a serious vein of virtues of the order, "Justice," "Charity," "Brotherly Love" and "Fidelity." The main purpose of the principles of Elksdom. These principles embrace the four cardinal the B. P. O. E. is the elevation and betterment of mankind. The general theme of the speakers was that the order does not exist for any selfish purposes but rather for the good it can do in the world. This principle was dwelt upon and amplified in the eloquent toast of District Deputy W. S. Levens who emphasized the fact that the requirements of the order were men and not money. Men with hearts of gold and animated by lofty motives lighting and brightening the world with the star of fraternal love.

The establishment of a lodge of the B. P. O. E. in Marshfield marks an epoch in the social advancement of Coos Bay for wherever there is an Elks' lodge it is always an important factor in the social life of the community.

ANTLER POINTS.
The following little poem was recited by one of the speakers and dedicated to District Deputy Levens' trip to Coos Bay by stage:

RAPID TRANSIT.
It's jes' a little planet that we all are livin' on.

To travel 'round it doesn't mean you'll be a long time gone.

A neighbor packs his grip an' goes a thousand miles or more,

An' you've scarcely learned to miss him when he turns up at the door.

A-sayin' "Howdydo" an' more'n likely shakin' hands

An' tellin' 'bout the wondrous things he saw in foreign lands.

There's one 'way off in Africa, jes' for a huntin' trip,

An' one is hastenin' through Japan to give dull care the slip,

An' several's on the isthmus seein' how canal work goes,

An' some is makin' ready to explore the polar snows.

The folks that travel have completely lost their old-time dread.

You simply buy your ticket an' say, "Let 'er go ahead!"

The friends an' family used to haunt the depot an' the dock

An' say "Good-by," an' mebbe cry,

'cause partin' was a shock.
But now we simply say "So long" with hearts all free from pain;
You hardly bid farewell before you shout "Hello" again!
There is only one exception to this universal rule
Wherever you may wander on God's green and gay footstool
If you take the stage at Roseburg or you want to go to Drain
Friends say "Good-bye, God bless you! we may never meet again."

Seymour Bell proved the champion Marathon talker.

"Jack" Flanagan's tongue was as smooth as the oil he sells.

One of the speakers presented the following as a "good fellow" toast during the evening.

An Elk's Toast.
Here's to all good fellows,
In this world and the next;
I drink to you a toast tonight—"Good Fellowship," my text.

Not the fellow who takes your hand in an idle hour, you know;
Not the fellow that slaps your back as long as the highballs flow;

But the chap that speaks a kindly word

When the world is running wrong,
The fellow who grips your hand hard and tells you life's a song.

What if we know that sucker lies?

What if he knows it, too?

There are times in life when the friend that lies

Is the only friend that is true.

Cavil and rant, ye prudes who will,
Of the evils of wine and gin;

But, somehow, the real true things we feel,

Leak out when the wine leaks in.

The fool is a fool; the cad is a cad;
Whichever God means him to be;
