Wedding Anniversary.—Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Cathcart celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding yesterday. Their many friends will wish this estimable couple many happy returns of the day.

Change in Hotel.—Mrs. Wm. Warren has leased the lodging house on North Front street, formerly known as the "Red Front" and will conduct an up-to-date rooming house for transients and regular roomers there. She has changed the name to "The Pioneer" and will endeavor to make it a popular stopping place.

Malthoid Roofing

Comes nearer to being indestructible than any known roofing. It's incomparable. Tin, iron, shingles or slate, or the mass of cheap imitations are not to be classed with it. Malthoid always makes good, and in doing so makes friends for the original makers.
