HORSE BACKS INTO BAY AND IS DROWNED

Animal Belonging to the North Bend Mercantile Company Loses Its Life In Peculiar Accident.

A delivery horse belonging to the North Bend Mercantile Company, was left stationed on the dock at North Bend Tuesday. While the driver was in the warehouse looking after freight, the animal started to back up and the first thing the driver knew of its danger was when he heard a terrific splash. Wagon and horse had gone over. At first it was thought the horse would swim to shallow water but only once did its nose come above the surface. Later it was found that in falling from the dock, its hind legs had become entangled in the thills so that it was deprived of their use. The rig and harness were later recovered.

AMONG THE SICK.

Mrs. Nious of Bandon, who underwent an operation some time ago, will be able to leave the General hospital shortly.

Clarence L. Foster, a Bandon mill owner, was operated on at the General hospital on account of enlargement of the glands.

Edgar Campbell, a former Coos Bay boy who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever in Riverside, Cal., has so far recovered as to be able to leave the hospital, a fact his many friends here will be pleased to learn and will hope he may soon be enjoying his usual health.
