The Coos Bay Times represents a consolidation of the Daily Coast Mail and The Coos Bay Advertiser. The Coast Mail was the first daily established on Coos Bay and The Coos Bay Times is its immediate successor.

Official Paper of Coos County.

A HIGH CALLING.

YEAR BY YEAR the influence of the press has been extended until at this time it is far and away the most potent factor in modern life. Not only does modern journalism influence politics but it is coming more and more to affect the moral life of the people.

"Is the newspaper press to be the great custodian of morals? Shall the church resign its de facto leadership?" says the Editor and Publisher. "Religion and morality have come out of the steepled edifices into the streets, the theatres, the secular public halls, to be a subject of discussion side by side with the subjects of politics and economics. It is the newspapers that have brought them out of sacerdotal doors.

"Would not ministers of religion more effectively promote their cause by going hand in hand with the press?" "And what of the press and its future as a moral force?" "We went along the street in a certain city. We talked with a stationer, a jeweler, a dry goods merchant, a blacksmith and a lawyer. We asked about a certain successful paper, and this is what they said:

"It is a good paper, one of the best in the state. We read it at home. It is good because the man who owns and runs it is good. His character is reflected through the paper."

"Shall the newspaper finally assume formal leadership in morality?" "Consider the responsibility. It is greatest upon the publisher. It is full upon every editor, every reporter, every member of the business staff. It rests upon every man and woman who loyally helps to make the newspaper.

"Shall it undertake it?" "It is a grand work."

THE RACE OF PHILANTHROPY.

THE DISTANCE TO the tape is not the thing which causes the leader in a footrace to screw his face into a mask of agony. It is the contestant two feet behind him.

Consider the tortures of the foremost man in the race of the philanthropic millionaires. Andrew Carnegie, having had a good start, leads by $20,000,000. He scatters libraries over the hills and plains, in city and village, and his money chest is lowered by many pounds. He founds an institute for research in the realms of pure learning, he builds a music hall, buys a boat free of iron for the purpose of pursuing magnetic currents, and gives republics and kingdoms specimens of paleontological enormities. But to what advantage? At his heels runs one of deadly patience, frugal of his wind and mindful of his strength, John D. Rockefeller. As the two near the goal, the runner in the rear comes up with $10,000,000 spurts. Educational funds, universities, mission-aries, cancer institutes, are shed by the trackside, $119,304,000 of them. Two more spurts such as that of last week, and the steadier runner is even with the leader. Then will come the tests of training and treasure. The last lap will be one worth living to see.

WITH THE TOAST AND TEA

GOOD EVENING.

Life is too short for any bitter feeling; Time is the best avenger, if we wait. The years speed by, and on their wings bear healing— We have no room for anything like hate.

THE WORLD'S WAY.

Just a little feller with tears a-rollin' down, Feelin' he's the worst used of enny boy in town, Cryin' fit t' break his heart an' wants t' cut an' run, 'Cause he's got a lickin' for a thing he never done! Dry yer tears, my buckey lad, an' do yer best ter smile. Things are goin' t' straighten out an' righeten after while— Reckin' that you'll find, my boy, as life you travel through, You'll get heaps o' lickin's for the things y' never do!

THE DAY'S STORY.

A Baltimore teacher was trying to explain the meaning of the word "re-epurate." "Charley," she said, "when night comes your father returns home tired and worn out, doesn't he?" "Yes, ma'am," assented Charley. "Then," continued the teacher, "it being night, and he being tired, what does he do?" "That's what ma wants to know," said Charley.

Before automobiles were invented, what did people do who were in a hurry?

The college professor who declared the other day that woman is a savage is unmarried.

China is counting her four hundred million people just to see how many there are.

Some Coos Bay people think twice before they speak and then don't say anything worth while.

It costs money to take a census, but the people must be counted, whether they are worth it or not.

That southern man who eloped with three women is likely to do something real foolish one of these days.

"Boot the shoe trust!"—Sloux Journal.

Wouldn't a good "lacing" do just as well?

Undoubtedly more men would hear opportunity knocking at their door if they would get up an hour or two earlier in the morning.

A rat, two switches and a pomp, A big pad and two lesser; Half of my wife sleeps in the bed, And one half on the dresser.

The Delaware schoolmistress who killed a huge snake while hunting for blackberries has done her little part toward avenging Mother Eve.

In view of the fact that nearly every farm is occupied there seems to be too much worry because the boys won't stay on the farm. Enough of them do.

"No gentleman," says the Topeka Capital, "will look back when a woman stops to fix her garter." Judged by that standard, we fear, Coos Bay has few gentlemen among its citizens.

The Yale graduate who wrote his will on the reverse side of his diploma was more fortunate than some graduates in that he had something beside the diploma to leave to his heirs.

A New York surgeon has discovered a way of cutting out the appendix verminiformis without shedding any blood. If he could invent a scheme for committing the operation without a $500 bill he would bring a real boon to humanity.

"They got salt from petroleum and are going to make butter. Wonder when John D. will start a bakery."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Perhaps when he has cornered all the dough on earth. Ask us another.

FINANCIAL

A DOLLAR SAVED is a DOLLAR MADE

The habit of saving, formed early in life, is the foundation of many a fortune. Thrifty people patronize the savings bank and prosper. Deposits in savings banks have proven more safe and profitable than any other class of investment for people who must build up a fortune from daily savings.

The department of savings is a special feature with this bank. Interest paid on all Savings Deposits remaining six months or longer.
