Sells Claim.—George Schapers has sold his timber claim on Coos River to C. A. Lennon of South Dakota for $6,500.

Meet Saturday.—A meeting of the directors of the Coos Bay and Boise Railway has been called for next Saturday afterhoon.

May Buy Auto.—Wm. Wade is figuring on buying a second automobile to put on the Roseburg-Myrtle Point run within the next week or so.

Build at Eastside.—M. A. Epperson and his sister, Mrs. N. M. Matson have purchased lots on Fifth avenue, Eastside, for two fine houses which they will shortly erect there.

Sunday Services.—There will be preaching services at Marshfield chapel on Coos River next Sunday both morning and evening. Everybody cordially invited to attend.—M. H. Haines, pastor.

Almost A Winner.—Walter S. McLeod of North Bend almost got in among the lucky ones in the Coeur d'Alene land drawing. He drew number 1778, just 277 too high to get one of the claims.

Many at Funeral.—The funeral of Mrs. J. C. Beattie which was held from the Wilson Undertaking parlors this morning was largely attended The Alert brought a large number of friends and neighbors from North Coos River, making a special trip for the funeral.

Want Bituminous Paving.—Residents of Fifth street, formerly Baines street, in South Marshfield, are figuring on having bituminous rock paving put in. It was first proposed to macadamize the street for the present but Patrick Hennessey and others now want the hard paving.

Strikes Shells.—The dredge Oregon has unearthed another big deposit of oyster shells in the Bay about 100 yards north of the old stave mill. After leaving the shoal opposite the Cold Storage, the dredge pumped mud until this week when again the oyster shells began to come out.

Excelsior In.—The Excelsior arrived in yesterday and will load with lumber at the C. A. Smith mill.

Wants Former Resident.—Henry Sodberg of Los Angeles, is endeavoring to locate Olaf Nielson, a G. A. R. Veteran who came to Coos county in the sixties but whom he has not heard from since 1883.

Sues For Commission.—This afternoon before a jury in Justice Pennock's court, a suit of C. J. Bruschke vs. C. P. Coleman for $115 commission on a real estate deal is being tried. The deal is an old one.

Son Is Born.—Word has been received here of the arrival of a son at the home of Henry Reed in Berkeley, Cal. Mr. Reed is a former Coos Bay boy, being a son of Capt. Reed and a brother of Mrs. J. M. Upton. The little stranger made his welcome appearance August 8 and he and Mrs. Reed are getting along nicely.

Clears Road.—Henry Sengstacken has a force of men clearing a water level road around Eastside to Catching Inlet. The road will connect up with the water level road which it is proposed to build from Sumner along Catching Inlet to Eastside to take the place of the present highway which is too rough for much travel.

Let Contract.—A committee of the city council last evening awarded the contract for the construction of five manholes for the surface drainage in the sawdust flat district which is to be paved this fall to the Coos Bay Paving and Construction company. This will enable the paving to begin within a few days, just as soon as the manholes can be put in.

Will Be Big Crowd.—A. J. Mendel of the Hub Clothing and Shoe Store, who has just returned from Portland, says that there will be a large crowd from that city to attend the Development Congress. He says he met a large number of the wholesalers and jobbers and nearly all stated that they expected to have some representative of their house present.

Opens Undertaking Parlor. — G. W Dungan has opened up his fine new undertaking parlor on North Front street in the quarters formerly occupied by the Lewis and Johnson Undertaking parlors. Mr. Dungan has had twenty years experience as an embalmer and funeral director and came here from Ferndale, Cal., where he has been located a number of years. Mrs. Dungan and daughter will arrive here shortly to join him.

Makes Long Trip.—W. H. Watson will leave on the Breakwater tomorrow for Greenville, S. C., to visit his mother whom he has not seen since 1874 when he started west. During his absence, his father died and during his stay this time, the estate will be closed up. Mr. Watson plans to spend about six weeks there and at other eastern points and if he can arrange it, he plans to return via Panama. Mr. Watson has been located here for a couple of years, being engaged in the roofing business.

Kreitzer Enjoys Life.—Dorsey Kreitzer wrote in today that he was having the time of his life at Ten Mile. He says that the weather is ideal and that he is catching all kinds of fish. Dr. Houseworth declares that he is willing to believe that "Dorse" is enjoying life because he doesn't do anything else. As to catching fish, Dr. Houseworth declares he has it straight from Ten Mile that Kreitzer hasn't caught a fish but insists on claiming the ones landed by Mrs. Kreitzer and William.

Comes to See Country.—Among the arrivals on the Breakwater was Charles Reigard of Minnesota. Mr. Reigard is the gentleman that J. W. Bennett wrote a lengthy letter to sometime ago describing and depicting Coos Bay as a marvelous country with hills so perpendicular that the ranchers farmed both sides of their land. The Times has been unable to interview Mr. Reigard but it was noted that J. W. Bennett departed immediately for his summer home when Mr. Reigard arrived. It is evident that there may be trouble when they meet.

SUIT OVER LAND.

C. A. Schlbrede Sues Warren P. Reed For Tract.

The Roseburg Review says: "C. A. Schlbrede of Marshfield, has sued Warren P. Reed in the Circuit Court to quiet title to 160 acres of land in section 9, 21-11, which land the plaintiff bought from George W. Cook, who had previously deeded a one-third interest in the tract to Reed to satisfy a debt of $200. In his complaint, Schlbrede alleges that the transfer from Cook to Reed was intended as a mortgage to secure the debt; that, by agreement between them, this debt was to be satisfied by revenue from the land, of which Reed was given absolute possession; that Reed collected more than $200 in rents from the land, but refused to relinquish his title. Schlbrede asks the court to declare the documentary transaction between Cook and Reed a mortgage; to decree the plaintiff to be the sole owner of the land, and to force Reed to render an accounting."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

The Aldrich team won the tariff game all right, but only with the aid of the umpire.

Thaw will soon pass into the limbo of things done and dispensed with along with the tariff.

If the world has trouble getting along it is not because our millionaires are stingy with their advice.

Anyhow, while the cost of living is so high fewer people will be tempted to invest in worthless mining stocks.

A New York man was fined $5 for "making eyes." If he made enough, he may now be able to see the error of his ways.

Dr. William Osler, who has reached the age of 60 years, doesn't think as much of chloroform as he did a few years ago.

What if the price of clothing does go up? Congress is not compelling you to own more than one suit of clothes at a time.

If you don't see the customary crowd on Marshfield streets these days you will understand that the vacation hundreds are out on their quests for rest and recreation.

President Taft is reported to be figuring on how to save $50,000,000 for the government, but he probably will not become as peevish as the man who is figuring on how to save enough for a new suit of clothes.

A San Francisco judge has decided that a man who has merely been called a grafter is not entitled to recover damages. What is regarded as an insult in some towns is a compliment in San Francisco.

Bert V. Wolfe, a Washington man, received an appointment to the weather service, to be stationed at Houston, Tex., but declined it. And people who know what execrable weather they have in Houston will not blame him.

"Georgia moonshine," says the Jacksonville Times-Union, "must be powerful stuff. Residents of an Atlanta suburb saw things flying in the air." Ahem! Pardon our stupidity, but where is one to see things flying if not in the air?
