A WOMAN'S WAY.

Her husband will get "loaded."
He'll go the primrose way;
He'll squander all his earnings
And leave her to work by day;
Yet, when he is arrested
For this, without a doubt,
She'll promptly leave her washing,
And go and bail him out.

Her husband will deprive her
Of comforts in the home,
He'll club her and he'll snub her
And he'll go away to roam;
But does she say, "You scoundrel,
I'll have you up for this!"
Ah, no, she tells the neighbors
That her life is perfect bliss.

And thus it is she labors
To keep him in her heart,
To minimize his errors
Which leaves the sores smart;
And though she's often foolish
In that she thwarts the laws,
Should you ask her why she does it
She'll just answer you, "Because."

AUGUST, THE LAST of the summer months, is half gone, and as we enjoy the warm presence of this most ardent of the three fair daughters of summer there is a tinge of sadness in our hearts, for we feel that she is here but to chant the requiem of summer days that were—to say farewell and disappear. But the society maiden is very versatile and will waste no precious moments in walling over the departure of summer. Scarcely will the glowing August have trailed her airy draperies past to make away for waiting September, then "Exit summer," will Society say, and in the most business-like manner flower-decked hats and fluffy gowns will be whisked in the dark oblivion of trunk or attic, summer amusements become things of the past and her glory to dictate what will be the fall and winter styles.

Just now, however, there is no change in the ideas of amusements in the social world. Many are returning to town after having enjoyed their summer outings up Coos River or at Ten Mile lake but the number of absences is by no means small, and a few departures now and then keep the list from diminishing.

Town, Tenmile and Coos River have seen a busy week socially. Many visitors have been entertained with both formal and informal functions. Commencing with Mrs. W. R. Haines reception on Monday, every afternoon of the week has had some festivity to enliven the usually dull atmosphere of August society. There are quite a few pleasuring at Ten Mile and many more society maids and matrons accompanied by enthusiastic anglers will join them this evening for an over Sunday stay.

Coos River cottagers, encouraged by the improvement in the weather are prolonging their stay and the week-end will see a great many guests at the several bungalows.

Mr. J. W. Bennett and Arthur McKeown and family will return to their camp at the Maze for an over Sunday stay. Among other guests are Mrs. Nellie Owen who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dungan at the Crows' Nest; Miss May Bennett who is the guest of Mrs. McCormac at Deer Lodge. Mrs. W. Haydon of Empire, is visiting Mrs. Morton Tower at Dreme Lodge. Mrs. Jack Smith and two children are at Rock Lodge, the guests of Mrs. McCollum and Miss Flanagan.

The Progress Club held a basket picnic with Mrs. W. C. Bradley on Wednesday, going up Coos River early in the day and returning in the evening. Mrs. McCormac and Mrs. Mingus were the guests of the club for the day.

Owing to many members of the Progress Club being out of the city and others being ill, only a small number of them were able to enjoy the trip. Among those participating were Mesdames M. C. Horton, Henry Sengstacken, W. S. Chandler, W. C. Bradley, C. W. Tower, L. S. Kaufman, L. Lando and Miss Traer.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Topping and wife of Bandon, are visiting Mrs. Topping's sister, Mrs. Mark Cutlip of South Coos River.

Mrs. Christine Kruse and daughter, Mary, spent a few days this week at the R. F. Williams camp at The Maze.

Mrs. I. S. Kaufman visited Mrs. W. C. Bradley at Cutlip's Grove on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Geo. Goodwin a former Marshfield High School teacher is visiting at the Terrace, Dr. C. W. Tower's cottage on Coos River.

Miss Kathleen Bennett entertained Wednesday at luncheon in honor of Miss Cora May Montgomery of Decatur, Ill. Covers were laid for ten. The decorations and favors were pale yellow with nasturtiums as a floral centerpiece. The luncheon table was most beautiful with a service of ivory lace. Those invited to meet Miss Montgomery were: Miss Elizabeth Kaufman, Miss Mahoney, Mrs. M. C. Maloney, Miss Horton, Miss Sengstacken, Miss Painter and Miss Bertha Kruse, and Miss Laura Kruse of North Bend.

Mrs. Farringer and Miss Painter entertained with an informal sewing party on Thursday afternoon. Musical selections by the hostesses and Miss Lucy Horton added greatly to the afternoon's enjoyment. Those present were: Mrs. Wm. Lawlor, Mrs. M. C. Maloney, Miss Kathleen Bennett, Miss Lucy Horton, Miss Bernice Platt, Miss Genevieve Sengstacken, Miss Elizabeth Kaufman, Miss Cora May Montgomery and Miss Lena Kruse and Miss Gertrude Mandigo of North Bend.

Among the Coos River cottagers and campers in town this week were Mrs. Otto Schetter and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Friedberg.

Miss Bertha Kruse of North Bend, left Thursday for Ten Mile where she will spend a week with Mrs. T. B. James.

Miss Lucy Horton will leave shortly for Seattle, where she will enter the University of Washington and commence her four-year study for an A. B. Degree.

Mrs. P. M. Wilbur and Miss Kathleen Bennett will leave next Tuesday to attend the Annual Teachers' Institute for Coos county at Coquille.

Post cards received by Marshfield friends this week from Frank Lambert state that he is enjoying a horseback trip through the Yellowstone Park. He writes that Ten Mile is preferable to the National Park as a place for an outing to his idea.

Miss Mary Black, who has been undergoing medical treatment in San Francisco, will return on the steamer Plant next Monday. Her many friends will be sorry to learn that the course of treatment necessitates that she lie on a couch for the next six months and will join in hoping an entire recovery for her at the end of that period.

Mr. and Mrs. John Coke, Miss Evelyn Anderson and Miss Agnes Hutchison have gone to Allegany for a two weeks outing.

Mrs. Stafford's reception on Friday for her sister Miss Cora May Montgomery of Decatur, Ill., was one of the prattiest affairs of the season. The residence was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers and huckleberry. In the receiving line were Mrs. Stafford, Miss Montgomery and Mrs. Colby Perry, Mrs. I. S. Kaufman and Miss Elizabeth Kaufman, assisted in receiving the guests. In the refreshment rooms were Mrs. Wilson Kaufman who poured coffee, Miss Horton and Miss Kathleen Bennett serving. Miss Laura Kruse and Miss Sengstacken served ices in another room which was decorated with greens and Shasta daisies. The dining room was decorated with red flowers and candles.

Among Mrs. Stafford's invited guests were the following: Miss Laura Kruse, Miss Nellie Tower, Miss Mamie Mahoney, Mrs. A. Leman, Mrs. Albert E. Seaman, Mrs. I. S. Kaufman, Mrs. E. Pollexfen, Mrs. Arthur E. Pollexfen, Mrs. John Sullivan, Mrs. A. H. Powers, Mrs. Dorsey M. Kreitzer, Mrs. W. U. Douglas, Mrs. Boyd M. Richardson, Mrs. J. M. Upton, Mrs. J. W. Ingram, Mrs. B. E. CURED HAY FEVER AND SUMMER COLD

A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success."—RED CROSS Pharmacy, (John Preuss, Prop.)
