THE BONNET OF FORTY-ONE.

The bonnet of eighteen forty-one
An the bonnet of nineteen-nine—What would they say if they chanced to meet,
And what would I choose for mine?
Fashions change and the shapes are old,
But the faces beneath the brim, Ah, they are the same in the sweetheart flame
As they were in the days grown dim!

Under the bonnet of fifty-one
The eyes that were twinkling then Had the dear same look when their beams o'ertook
The gleam in the hearts of men;
The old-time ladies were ladies still,
With youth and the eyes of blue,
And men wrote sonnets to old-time bonnets
As men now write to the new!

One of the bonnets of fifty-one—
I saw it the other day,
With the faded bows and its old primrose
And the little silk ribbons of gray;
Under the attic rafters hung,
Through the shadows I saw it gleam
And out of the shadows she danced and sung—
The lass of my boyhood dreams!

CURED HAY FEVER AND SUMMER COLD
A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business, I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success."—RED CROSS Pharmacy, (John Preuss, Prop.)
