School at Cooston.—The Cooston school opened Monday with Miss Etta James of Coquille as teacher. She had just completed a term in the Kentuck district.

Hook Tender Hurt.—Jess Hunter, a hooktender at the Smith-Powers Company's camp on Isthmus Inlet, was struck in the head by a logging chain, sustaining a severe gash.

School Monday.—Superintendent Golden and the school board have practically completed preparations for the opening of the Marshfield public schools next Monday. All of the teachers are now on the Bay.

Launch New Boat.—The Millicoma, Capt. Edwards' new stern wheel boat built for service on upper Coos River, was launched yesterday afternoon. She will run in connection with the Alert, being of very light draught.

Undergoes Operation.—Mrs. B. F. Willey underwent a severe operation at the Marshfield General hospital yesterday. Dr. Houseworth, who is attending her, reported today that she was getting along nicely, which will be gratifying news to her many friends.

Get Contract.—Harris, Hughes and Evans of North Bend, have been awarded the general construction contract for the building which Mrs. C. W. Tower will erect at the corner of Fourth and Central avenue. The building will be started Monday and rushed to completion, Architect Turpen having supervision of it.

Jumped Board Bill.—Justice Penock today issued a warrant for the arrest of Fred. Theis, charged with jumping a board bill of $29 owed to C. H. Hess, proprietor of the Sundry Market. Theis is employed on the dredge Oregon and is now en route to Astoria where the warrant was sent for service.

Charley Lee Better.—Dr. Geo. E. Dix today received a letter from Charley Lee, formerly a well-known Coos Bay traveling man who went to Fairbury, Neb., last summer to visit relatives, in which he stated that he was just recovering from a severe illness. He weighs just 126 pounds now. His many friends here will be pleased to hear of his rapid recovery.

Meet Tonight.—A meeting of the executive board of the First Baptist church will be held this evening to take action on the call extended to the Rev. S. A. Douglas of Albany.

Goes to Myrtle Point.—Will Kolm, who has been clerk in the Breakwater office here for some time, has been appointed agent of the Breakwater and the Coos Bay, Roseburg and Eastern Railway at Myrtle Point, Vice Mr. Dunning resigned. He will assume his new duties next Wednesday and will be succeeded here by Louis Keating who was formerly clerk in the Alliance office.

Remain at Old School.—It is announced that the Seventh Grade will not be transferred from the old school building to the new high school building as was contemplated by the school board and Superintendent Golden a few weeks ago. The Seventh Grade will remain at the old building but the Eighth Grade, both divisions, will be quartered in the new high school.

Trip was Futile.—Wm. Grimes left yesterday morning via Roseburg for Oklahoma where he was subpoenaed as a witness in a federal court case. Owing to business matters here, he had been wiring to be allowed to remain here but just before leaving, he was summoned again. Late yesterday, a telegram was received stating the case had been continued until the next term of court. Dorsey Kreitzer has been wiring various points trying to intercept but up to noon had been unable to reach him.
