Double lightship was the most expensive and was owned by the Shipping Board. It had been built at the Southend Yard. It was named after the lightship "Providence," which had been lost in a storm. The new lightship was to be used for the relief of the "Providence." The ship was launched on 10 November 1928, and was driven ashore at the Entrance Light on 12 November 1928. It was a dark night, and the ship was driven ashore at 4:30 a.m. The ship was salvaged and returned to service the next day. The ship was repaired and returned to service on 15 November 1928.

Kaiser Urges Peace Pact

Emperor William Opens Reichstag As Allied Peace

Alliance

Before his departure from England, Kaiser had visited the United States and had met with United States President Taft. The Kaiser had expressed his desire for peace and had offered to mediate between the United States and Germany. Taft had accepted the Kaiser's offer and had invited the Kaiser to visit the United States. The Kaiser had arrived in the United States on 10 November 1928, and had been received with great honor. The Kaiser had met with United States President Taft and had given a speech at the White House. The Kaiser had then traveled to the United States and had met with United States President Coolidge. The Kaiser had then returned to Germany and had resumed his duties as Kaiser of Germany.
