Mail Regularly.—A. Roberts, the Ten Mile mail carrier, was in Marshfield today on business. He says that he has been delivering the mail there regularly despite the inclement weather.

Gets Key.—Today Mayor Straw received a big brass key, weighing a pound or more through the mail. On a tag bearing his address was the inscription "Key to City. From Smith."

At Grays Harbor.—Peter Scott Sr. received word from his son, Peter Scott Jr., who is employed on the dredge Oregon, that the dredge reached Grays Harbor safely Tuesday morning, having crossed out from Astoria Monday morning.

J. E. Oren Ailing.—In a letter to Marshfield friends, Mrs. J. E. Oren says that Mr. Oren's health is not improving as rapidly as they had hoped for. Specialists who have been attending him say that he must take an absolute rest for a year or more.

Aid Coos Bay.—In a letter to the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce, E. C. Giltner, secretary of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, says that that body has requested all members of the Oregon delegation to extend every possible aid for Project No. 1 for the improvement of Coos Bay harbor.

Has Suspended.—The Coast Mail, which was started by Percy Levar and others last July, has failed to make its appearance for several days and it is understood that it has suspended for good. It suspended a week ago for a couple of days but revived for a few issues and has stopped again.

Naval Parade On Coos Bay.—The Royal Theatre offers an unusual program tonight and tomorrow night. Sunday night one of the greatest water carnivals of modern times, the Hudson-Fulton naval parade will be shown. Coos Bay is fortunate in receiving this great moving picture so soon after the event took place.

Get Lumber.—Yesterday, the North Bend Swedish Lutheran congregation secured a scow load of lumber from the C. A. Smith mill to complete the interior of their church. The lumber was donated to the congregation by Mr. C. A. Smith on his last visit through Rev. J. Richard Olson. Mr. Smith and his wife are members of the English Evangelical Lutheran Church in Minneapolis.

League Meets.—The Citizens' League met at the Finnish hall last evening with a fairly good attendance. I. S. Smith and others talked, Mr. Smith expressing his appreciation of the support given him and saying that he would rather lose than win if the latter entailed the necessity of securing the support of some who were lined up against him. On motion of T. A. Howard, F. M. Friedberg was given a vote of thanks for his efforts to maintain the purity of the ballot. It was decided to hold monthly meetings henceforth, the next meeting being the second Friday in January.

No Sunday Mail.—Postmaster Curtis has not been advised of any action by the Postoffice Department on the bids for a star route Sunday service between Coos Bay and Myrtle Point. The bids were to have been opened December 6. Senator Chamberlain and Second Assistant Postmaster General Stewart write that the postoffice department cannot allow the local road more pay than the $42.75 per mile, now allowed, until after the regular weighing of mails in Oregon next spring. The letters are in response to the offer of General Manager Mills through the Chamber of Commerce to put on Sunday trains for the mail service providing he was allowed extra pay for the additional mail that has been handled on the railway since the mail service was changed from the old Coos Bay wagon road.
