DEAR FRIEND:

I WAS VERY TIRED WHEN I CAME FROM DOWN TOWN THIS MORNING. MAMA SENT ME DOWN TOWN TO GET OUR CHRISTMAS THINGS. WE HAVE INVITED LOTS OF FRIENDS TO COME AND TAKE CHRISTMAS DINNER WITH US. MAMMA SAID SHE WANTED TO GET THE VERY BEST KIND OF GROCERIES, BECAUSE IT DOESN'T LOOK NICE TO ASK PEOPLE TO DINNER AND NOT PUT THE NICEST THINGS ON THE TABLE.

YOUR FRIEND,

JACOB.

With the Toast and Tea

GOOD EVENING.

I believe in moral suasion, I believe the age of bullets is over. I believe the age of ideas is come. I think that this is the preaching of our country.
—Wendell Phillips.

Wise.

She's not versed in Greek or Latin, and of art she nothing knows, She never studied music, and to clubs she never goes
To hear some weighty paper on the poetry of Poe,
The "ologies" and "isms" are all things she don't know;
But her Christmas shopping journeys she can very quickly plan,
For she knows exactly what to buy to give unto a man.

In discussion of the graces she is silent as a clam,
And her speech is free entirely from all trace of epigram;
To the classics she's a stranger, and to modern thinkers, too,
And on higher criticism she can not converse with you,
But she's wise, and who can doubt it when I tell you she can plan
A shopping list at Christmas, knowing what will please a man?

You may boast about your culture, you may brag about your art,
You may think that you are clever, and may think that you are smart,

You may talk in French and German, and the poets you may quote,
And profoundly tear to pieces what some great old master wrote;
But with Christmas time approaching, I am sure for the wife who can Go down with her money and buy something for a man.

Holly wreathed yet?

The gobbler and the gobbler are again glaring at each other.

Heard in every home where there is an inquisitive boy: "Now, Willie, you keep right out of the parlor bedroom, or Santa Claus won't let you display.

have any of those nice presents he has for you in there?" And you can just get a picture of Willie keeping out!

Christmas Shopping.

Get the hop
For the Christmas shop,
And don't stop
Till you've got your crop
Of Christmas things all in,
And your tin,
To the last cent
Is spent
On a sentiment
That's good all through,
But which makes you swear
If you stand it off
Till the very air
Is filled with the rush
And the jam and the crush
And the pull and the haul
And the punch and the maul
And the run and the jump
And the shove and the thump
Of a million buyers
Who wait and wait,
Then all crowd in
So they won't be late;
A million buyers
Who swear and sweat,
Who squeeze and reach,
Who fume and fret;
A million buyers crowding through
A million others
Just like you.
Say,
That's no way
To get a hop
For the Christmas shop,
Is it? Wow!
Do it NOW!
