LITTLE TALKS ABOUT TOWN

A GRIST OF COOS BAY GOS-SIP GATHERED HERE AND THERE ABOUT THINGS OF PASSING INTEREST.

"Now, what do you think of the ground hog as a weather prophet?" Del Cathcart called The Times office on the telephone yesterday to make a record of the fact that Mr. Wise Old Groundhog can give pointers to the weather department when it comes to a six weeks forecast of rain and sunshine.

"In all the thirty years of my residence on Coos Bay I never knew such a long continued storm period," remarked Mayor Jordan, of Eastside, yesterday during a comment on weather conditions. "We have had rainy and storm periods of equal severity, but none that lasted so long without a break of a few weeks of sunshine."

"Your notice of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hilborn was interesting," remarked G. W. Shelley to a Times reporter, "and reminded me of another of those Anniversaries, rather rare occurrences. Mr. and Mrs. H. Weatherley of Scottsburg, recently celebrated their golden wedding. They are pioneers and both are hale and hearty and good for many more anniversaries which their friends certainly wish them."

"I do not care to butt in, but I think you people are making a mistake in trying to oppose the government engineers in the bar dredge bar appropriation," remarked Milton Glass of Proposition, San Francisco, to a group of Marshfield business men this morning. "I went through just such a fight in Los Angeles, California, in 1895, when I was a member of the city council there. We wanted a jetty built at San Pedro and the government engineers recommended a dredge. We fought them and even induced our senatorial representative United Senator White to try and have the appropriation changed to a dredge. The result was we delayed the improvement for years and the engineers finally prevailed and the dredge was built and has proven a success. Whether it will on Coos Bay or not I cannot say but anyway if it falls the engineers will be friendly and you will get your jetty sooner than by continuing a policy of opposition. Besides it has a bad effect outside. The business men in San Francisco have heard of the opposition of some Coos Bay people to the government appropriation and they cannot understand it. The best way is to stand together and boost."

LIFE IS SAVED BY WIRELESS

Operator Reynolds of Alliance Secures Medical Advice From Newport.

To the thoughtfulness and persevering efforts of Harry Reynolds, wireless operator on the steamship Alliance, G. Ward, cook on the vessel, undoubtedly owes his life. Ward was one of the first men on the Alliance injured when the vessel was buffeted about in Monday night's gale and bled profusely. Despite the efforts of Captain Astrup and others on the ship, the flow of blood could not be stopped and it began to look as though Ward would bleed to death. Finally Reynolds got busy at the key and succeeded in getting the operator of the wireless station at Newport. He described the injury to the operator and requested him to phone a physician there about it and see what could be done. The Newport operator did so and quickly sent the physician's advice to Operator Reynolds and it soon proved effective.

Ward is now at Mercy hospital and is getting along nicely although still very weak from the loss of blood.

Porter Weekly, who had just joined the Alliance in Portland, sustained a fractured arm in the storm. He is at Mercy hospital.

M. E. McCormick, another member of the crew, is also at the hospital. He became so seasick that he grew very weak. Dr. Bartle, who is attending them reports that all are getting along nicely.

Everybody on the Alliance agrees that the trip down was one of the roughest that has ever been experienced. For safety, the passengers were locked in their staterooms during the worst of the storm and the members of the crew who had to be on deck lashed themselves to something. The mate before he could lash himself to the bridge was almost blown overboard.

Alliance Sails Today.
The Alliance sailed this afternoon for Portland with a fair cargo and passenger list. Captain Astrup expects to reach Portland in time to leave there on their regular schedule Saturday night. Among those sailing on the Alliance were the following:

Mrs. Cave, Hazel Cave, T. Jones, H. Litta, G. H. Gordon, J. J. Estabrook, J. S. Bennett, E. N. Hurd, Sam Powell, W. T. Hummert, Serena Knudson, Cassie Warnock, C. H. Albert, G. Gilchrist, B. Gunderson, N. E. Rullen, Mrs. N. E. Rullen, Chas. Abbott, Jas. Dusharm, Miss Esther Grange, H. A. Stahlnecker, four from Myrtle Point two from Coquille and two from Bandon.
