CANNON FORCES SAVED BY LONG FILIBUSTER IN HOUSE

Insurgents and Democrats Temporarily Control the Situation.

SPEAKER'S POWER PREVENTS OVERTHROW

Most Spectacular Battle for Control Ever Waged in Congress.

BULLETIN. (By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—The House adjourned at 4:48 P. M. The final vote was 164 to 150 in the Insurgents' favor.

It was a memorable fight which daylight found still in progress in the House. The stubborn filibuster on the part of the Cannon and the House organization, an equally relentless attack on the part of the "allies," were the distinguishing features of the hottest fight yet made to overthrow the present control of the House. It commenced yesterday afternoon and continued all night with relentless aggression on the part of the Democrats and Insurgents who were masters of the Reclusars at every point, but who could not force Cannon to rule on the Norris resolution, providing for an enlargement of the rules committee with the Speaker eliminated. It was extraordinary in many ways. For instance, an odd spectacle was a House preponderantly Republican ordering the arrest of the absentees of that party on the motion of a Democrat was carried by the Democratic votes.

It has been many years say old observers, in fact no precise parallel was suggested, since the House remained in session all night and that after an all-day session and until this afternoon, when tired, weak and weary, the same majority voted for a brief recess.

Both sides exhausted their oratorical resources in attack and defense. Most of the speakers consumed the full hour's time allotted them, and many bitter things were said, especially about and to Cannon, who was characterized as a demagogue, and czar, unwilling to give fair play. At times the disorder was so great that members who were engaged in the debate were formed, but a few out by the interested and clamorous groups which surrounded them and Speaker Cannon looked seriously with a somber and colorless wildeye, vigorously demanded: "The House will come to order."

Cannon was accused of instructing the sergeant-at-arms and deputies not to make a real effort to bring in delinquent Republicans and this led to a long wrangle. Cannon left the Chair temporarily and the presiding officer ruled the motion out of order, but he was overruled, and then came a row about signing new warrants for the assistant sergeant-at-arms. Cannon here returned and he and Culberson of Texas went at it and the heavy Texan demanded that Cannon sign the new warrants, but Cannon claimed "no. creurn" and refused to act. The Texan in a rage asserted was Cannon bound to carry out the will of the House when there was not a quorum. Cannon replied he could not act under the rules. There was talk of ousting Cannon, but until the Speaker consents, to rule on the admission of the Norris resolution as privileged it is difficult to see how a motion to oust the Speaker or dismiss the sergeant-at-arms can be made.

Several conferences of insurgents were held during the day and one of the insurgents and regulars but no agreements were reached and finally a recess was voted for. When they reconvened the motion to postpone the fight until tomorrow was made and carried and adjournment was had.

Insurgents Score Another Victory and Speaker May be Shorn of Power.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—Following up their victories over Speaker Cannon and the regular Representatives, the House Insurgents and Democrats attempted to change the rules of the House. Norris of Nebraska offered a resolution for the appointment of a new committee on rules and making the Speaker ineligible to serve thereon. The House refused again today to take up the Crumpacker bill to amend the census act. Although the regular Republicans who were defeated with Speaker Cannon yesterday rallied some Democrats to their support, they obtained only 137 votes to 142 negative. Cannon denounced the insurgent Representatives for their attitude.

At 2 o'clock p. m., a motion by Representative Martin of South Dakota, a regular, that the House take a recess until 4 p. m., carried by 161 to 151. Indescribable confusion and deafening yells greeted the result of this the fourth test of strength.

The House later decided to postpone the rules fight until tomorrow. In a very speech, Shackelford of Mississippi declared that by "Abdicating his throne," the Speaker had privately instructed the sergeant-at-arms not to arrest absentees, but he was unable to command a majority.

WOULD CHOOSE WILLIAMS. Regular Republicans Very Irate at the Insurgents.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—The election of minority leader, Champ Clark, as speaker of the House was seriously considered today by some of the regular Republicans. They say they would follow a Democrat in preference to a Republican who defies the majority of his party. This course would be contingent on the defeat of the organization in the present crisis.

The insurgent Republicans selected Messrs. Gardner of Massachusetts Bay of California, Lenroot of Wisconsin and Norris of Nebraska to meet a similar representation from the regulars to arrange for the enlargement of the rules committee to ten or fifteen members with the elimination of the Speaker. A committee from the regulars met the insurgents in an effort to reach a basis of compromise but nothing was effected.

NO HEARING TODAY. House Squabble Delays Ballinger-Pinchot Hearing.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—Owing to conditions in the House it was impossible to get a quorum for the Ballinger-Pinchot hearing this morning and adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning.

Woman Arrested.—Cora G. Fairbanks was arrested late yesterday afternoon at the Nutwood saloon by Marshal Carter, charged with intoxication. She created considerable disturbance while being taken to jail. She is to have her hearing before City Recorder Butler this afternoon. Proprietor Smith of the Nutwood has discharged the bartender, who was said to have been responsible for allowing the woman to enter the place and in consequence he will probably not be prosecuted for allowing women in his saloon.

TAFT TALKS ON "THE PRESS"

President Disagrees With Chicago Papers—Guest at Many Functions.

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, March 18.—President Taft was the guest of honor and principal speaker at functions in various Irish and other organizations here yesterday. Addressing the Chicago Newspaper Club, the President warmed up to his subject "The Press," and touched on phases of journalism on which apparently he feels deeply. He spoke feelingly of the editorials in Chicago papers, many of which he characterized as replete in unsound arguments with unjust conclusions.

RAMONA HERE FROM PORTLAND

Steamship Arrives Early This Morning With Large Passenger List.

The Ramona arrived in at 6 o'clock this morning from Portland, after one of the best trips she has had in many weeks down the coast. She had a large passenger list and a good cargo.

Captain Nelson says that the Coos Bay Port Commission is in error in attempting to regulate the speed of vessels in the harbor. He says that the Commission has no authority over vessels after they enter the channel, the Commissioners having authority only over the wharves and mud flats around the bay.

Owing to the tide, the Ramona will sail at 6 o'clock Saturday morning.

Among those arriving on the Ramona were the following:

Eric Bolt, Will Horton and Will Merchant were appointed a committee to charter a boat for the day, and Miss Alpha Mauzey, Ruth Allen and Nora Tower were named as the refreshment committee. It was voted to invite Mr. and Mrs. Dan Shannon and Mr. and Mrs. Ross to accompany the students.

Father Curley Back.—Rev. Father Curley returned today on the Ramona, and much to the gratification of his many friends on the Bay, it is announced that the Archbishop has changed his mind about giving him another charge, and he will remain on the bay and continue in charge of the North Bend parish.

Pennsylvania Politicians Take a Hand in Philadelphia Traction Trouble.

(By Associated Press.) PHILADELPHIA, Pa. March 18. With the arrival here yesterday of State Senator James P. McNichol and William F. Vare, recorder of deeds in this county, the most powerful leaders of the dominant political party in Philadelphia, it is expected that added force will be given the movement to bring about peace between the striking carmen and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company. Senator McNichol is credited with having brought about the end of the carmen's strike last June. Labor leaders are still trying to spread the general strike.

OREGON LAND GRANTS LARGE

Special Report on Coos Bay Wagon Road Grant and Litigation.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18. The Department of Justice has sent to the Senate a report concerning the suits against the land-grant railroads, in response to the Chamberlain resolution of January 24th. The report recites that the lands involved aggregated under the acts of July 25, 1866, and May 4, 1870, 3,137,000 acres granted, of which 820,000 acres have been sold, the remaining 2,317,000 acres being claimed by the Oregon and California Railroad Company as successors to the original grants, the report states that a suit was instituted September 24, 1908, against the Oregon and California Company, the issues in the case being complicated by a large number of interventions, and that the case is now pending on demurrers, interposed by principal defendants. In addition to the main suit forty-five other suits, instituted against large purchasers of the rights of the United States to the forfeiture of lands in regard to suits to set aside the Coos Bay and Roseburg Wagon Road grant, made under the act of March 3, 1869. The report says the results of an investigation on the condition of the lands under this grant have recently been presented to the Attorney-General, the subject considered, and a plan of procedure adopted, and a discussion of the future plans of the Government at this time would be inadvisable.

GIBSON HELD IN PORTLAND

Chief Steward of Breakwater and Ramona Under Arrest On Serious Charge.

E. L. Gibson, chief steward on the Ramona and for a long time occupying a similar position on the Breakwater, was arrested in Portland Monday night together with Mrs. Kline, on charges preferred by a Mr. Kline of The Dalles, Oregon. Both were still in jail when the Ramona left here Wednesday night.

The arrest caused quite a stir here when the news of the escapade was brought in by parties on the Ramona today. Gibson is well known here and so is Mrs. Kline, but she was known here as Mrs. Gibson, having travelled with the steward as his wife.

They were arrested shortly after the Ramona reached Portland on her last trip. Even the members of the Ramona crew supposed that the woman in the case was Mrs. Gibson.

TIDAL WAVE LAST NIGHT

Thirty-two Swept Into the Harbor of Safety at the Tabernacle.

***** TABERNACLE CALENDER. (By Rev. G. LeRoy Hall.) ***** Tonight—High School Night. ***** Sunday afternoon—Greater Coos County. ***** Of the thirty-two who came forward last night, twenty-six were men and boys, mostly men. ***** Nearly the entire Eastside baseball team have decided for Christ. ***** Everybody welcome. *****

St. Patrick's night proved to be the greatest of the Tabernacle revival. In spite of all the advertising of the counter attractions, a large crowd gathered to hear Dan Shannon, the evangelist. His subject was "Cheap Sales, and no Profit." Text: "Ye have sold yourself for naught, yet ye shall be redeemed without money."

He said: "If you have real estate to sell, or any article of merchandise, you try to get the highest market price, but when it comes to your life, the most valuable possession you have, many sell it to the evil one, and get misery, woe, shame, sorrow, disgrace and death in return. We say a man is insane who wilfully destroys his property, or burns up his money or commits suicide, and God says the man who destroys his own soul is a madman."

"Some men sell their soul for earning it, and their children kill themselves spending it. Gold, like fire and water, is a good servant but a hard master. If some men in Coos Bay could take their money into eternity, it would do them no good, for it would melt. But there is no pocket in a shroud, and they will be paupers when they stand before the judgment seat of Christ."

"Some sell their souls for sinful pleasure. God says, 'She that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth.' Some women live the butterfly life. The bees drag out the drones; if all the drones in the hive of humanity were cast out, many a place would decrease in population. Some men should wear the tag 'Sold Cheap.' Like Esau, they have sold their manhood, for that which wrecks both body and soul. The drunkard gives up his hard-earned money, and gets a big head, weak stomach, wrecked nerves, sadness, woe, poverty, rags, and eternal misery, for God has said:

Government Investigator Limits Himself to Alleged Pilfering.

WILL NOW BE SENT TO WASHINGTON.

Port Commission Will Take Czarina Wreck Criticism Up Direct.

Although Captain DeOtte, who was sent here by the Government to investigate the charges of pilfering made against Messrs. Taylor and Christianson of the Coos Bay Life Saving Station, was understood to have stated on his arrival that he would investigate any charges that might be preferred against the crew if the charges were properly filed, he refused to do so late yesterday when the matter was put up to him in an official way.

The refusal of Captain DeOtte to make the investigation occasioned considerable surprise. President J. T. McCormac of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce and President W. P. Evans of the Port of Coos Bay Commission, understood him to say when they conferred with him soon after his arrival, that if counter-charges were filed against Captain Boice and the crew that he would investigate them.

Yesterday afternoon, the Port of Coos Bay Commission, which took the attitude on the start that a thorough investigation was necessary to either exonerate Captain Boice and his men or to find them guilty, secured the filing of the necessary charges to open the case. When Captain DeOtte was apprised of the filing of the charges, he stated to President Evans that he considered the whole affair a closed matter and that he could not investigate it further.

However, the Port of Coos Bay Commission does not propose to pass the matter over as it stands now and they will take the matter up again with the Government officials at Washington and members of the Oregon delegation. The charges against the actions of the crew at the time of the Czarina disaster are understood to specify that no attempt was made to launch the surf boat, that Captain Boice did not send to the nearby life saving station for help, that the life boat was not launched and that the extraordinary charge of powder permitted was not used in the endeavor to shoot the line to the Czarina.

"No drunkard shall inherit the Kingdom of God."

"Ye Shall be Redeemed." "A pawnbroker holds the articles that have been pawned until the redemption price has been paid. God says: 'Men have sold themselves to do evil, and Christ came to redeem them from their terrible bondage.' Money, good works, culture and education cannot pay the redemption price for the Scripture says: 'We are redeemed by the precious blood of Christ.'"

When the invitation was given, two stalwart men, heads of families, came boldly down the center aisles. Then from the right hand side came Lyman Noble, one of the oldest residents of Coos county. As he came, a shout went up from the people. A husband said to his wife, "Come on, I'm tired of sin." Hand in hand they came to Christ. From the rear of the Tabernacle came five men, and three women, some smiling, some weeping. A few minutes more and four young men "lined up." The christians wept, prayed, and shouted, for they felt repaid for their days and weeks of hard prayer and labor to make the meeting a success. When the final count was made, thirty-two had "crossed the bar" into the port of Peace.
