OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF MARSHFIELD.

GET A HOME.

THE BEST and most permanent use to which land can be put is its occupation as a home. Nothing so quickly raises a young man in the estimation of others as the knowledge that he is living in his own home. Nothing so quickly raises his own self-respect, which is the most comforting thing in the world. With the acquisition of a home come new interests in life. One is consulted in neighborhood affairs. He feels himself that he is a citizen in a sense that he has never been a citizen before. As he makes improvements, big or little, he is happy in making them, for they will be enjoyed by himself and family. He is an established man. Quarrels with the landlord are past, as well as the heavy cost of the continuous moving which impoverishes many families in any city.

FORTUNATE FOR COOS BAY.

IF A MAN is not a booster he is a detriment to his home town. There are some men who take it upon themselves to meet strangers and tell all of the petty inside scraps in the town and give the stranger the general impression that his particular city is no good in any way. If these "knockers" are at all numerous it does not take long for a city to gain a poor reputation all over the country, consequently the business of all, including the "knocker" himself, is hurt.

Happily, Coos Bay is blessed with many boosters even if there are some knockers. It has grown from a mere village to a city of several thousand despite many drawbacks, which growth is due in the most part to the consistent boosting of its citizens. But there is a limit to boosting. Do not misrepresent the facts. When this is done people who go to a city to invest their money and find that the facts will not back up the statements made will go away to tell every one they meet that the town is inhabited by a population of prevaricators.

Again is Coos Bay blessed, for there are few of these men who stretch the facts, and this has helped greatly in building up the reputation which this city has among men of capital as being "there with the goods," and in fact the general expression of newcomers is one of surprise at the extent of our resources.

NOTICE.

To all our patrons:
Mr. Geo. Doll has purchased our fuel business and teams and will conduct the business in the future. We cheerfully recommend Mr. Doll to our patrons and the public in general as a gentleman worthy of their patronage and bespeak for him the same generous treatment accorded to us in times past. Respectfully

GOOD EVENING.

I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live up to what light I have.—Lincoln.

PRETTY SOON.

I know a land where streets are paved
With the things we meant to achieve;
It is walled with the money we mean to have saved,
And the pleasures for which we grieve.
The kind words unspoken, the promises broken,
And many a coveted boon
Are stowed away there in the land somewhere—
The land of the "Pretty Soon."
It is farther at noon than it is at dawn,
Farther at night than at noon;
Oh, let us beware of that land down there—
The land of "Pretty Soon."

Somehow no one ever seems to regard a little man's troubles seriously.

When you are trying to sell a man something don't be too cordial, or he will notice it.

The devil and all his imps do not bother us half as much as the men who have funny stories to tell.

"The trouble with me," said an Coos Bay man today, "I talk an hour and a half, and think fifteen minutes."

A man who is always looking for work might as well wear a placard reading: "I am not worth a d—," since everybody knows he is not.

Edison has perfected a storage battery that will run a street car for 30 cents a day. What's the matter with trying it on the cost of living.

We are becoming old, but we still give three cheers every morning because we are not compelled to go to school. We are not so old that we have forgotten how we hated it.

When a man lights a cigar he throws the match on the floor. This means that some of his women folks will have to stoop over and pick it up and every time they stoop over to pick up a match they see more clay to their idol until finally, in the course of a few months, he is so much clay that he is no longer an idol, but a good location for a brickyard.

Why stand on the streets and argue? You must realize that you invent facts, knowing that the other fellow does not know enough to controvert them. The other fellow plays the same game on you; he knows you are ignorant and takes advantage of the fact. It is a waste of time to argue.

Every house planned by an American woman has a larger parlor and a smaller kitchen than the house planned by an American woman the year before. In time, this means that a house will be all parlor on the first floor, except a shelf, and that will be the kitchen.

The old-fashioned woman, whose door-knob knot of hair is done so tight she has to use a monkey wrench to undo it at night, has a firm, unmovable conviction that no woman who runs to puffs and curls amounts to much.

Women know this, but we venture the opinion that not one man is 50 knows it; When a woman first makes up a bed, she puts on two clean sheets, which are used a week. Then the lower sheet is taken off, and replaced by the upper sheet, the upper sheet being replaced with a clean one. We always thought that when you get clean sheets on your bed you get two clean; but you don't; two clean sheets are placed on the company bed. When the company goes, the sheets are taken off and washed, whether used one night or six.
