CELEBRATION IS CALLED OFF

Firemen Unable to Raise Sufficient Funds to Carry Out Plans.

Jack Davis, president of the Marshfield Fire Department, today issued the following statement concerning the calling off of the Fourth of July celebration:

"At a special meeting of the Fire Department, called for the purpose of deciding whether or not to carry on a celebration on very limited means; it was decided to let the matter drop. The soliciting committee which had been out for several days interviewing the different business houses, met with very little encouragement. It was decided several weeks ago to celebrate and so stated in this paper, so that it would be publicly known. They did not care to start with a subscription list at that time and so postponed this part of it for some, but made many other arrangements. It happens that others got the better of them on that part of the proposition, and when they did start on their list they were met by turn-downs and absolute refusal to support the "graft." In most cases the business houses were under the impression that the previous list as passed around was for a general town celebration, and claimed that such had been represented to them, and hence had given all they could possibly afford. To these houses there are no ill-feelings, but those who turned them down cold, there is a great ill-feeling among the fire boys. They wish to thank those who did subscribe, and those others whose intentions were good, for their liberal support. They also wish to thank the business man who so liberally subscribed his good will, also those who offered to rather subscribe if they didn't celebrate.

"It is now up to the business houses of the city whether Marshfield will celebrate the Fourth of July in a patriotic way or not.

"The Firemen will decide at their next regular meeting how they are going to spend the day. A trip to Sunset Bay is being talked of at present."

Is Chosen Captain—Second Mate Hanson, who has been running on the Nann Smith has been selected by the C. A. Smith company to become captain of the Redondo when the steam schooner is turned over to the C. A. Smith company on her arrival here Saturday. The vessel was sold by the Simpson Lumber company. It is understood that she will be completely overhauled, will be changed to an oil burner and equipped with wireless.

BOND MONEY SCARCE.

"No bids have been received," was the terse report of Recorder Orcutt to the City Council Monday night, when there came up the order of business relating to the flotation of $10,000 worth of bonds for paying one-third the cost of laying asphalt pavement in Roseburg this year. Recorder Orcutt went on to explain: "About a dozen eastern bonding firms requested information as to the proposed issue and this I supplied. Five or six of them wrote back to me saying that owing to the rising condition of the money market the stated rate of interest of 4 1/2 per cent was too low, especially for western projects. They gave the assurance, however, that they would consider the proposition on a 5 per cent rate. No Portland firms took enough interest in the matter to even inquire about it."—Roseburg News.
