THE GARDEN OF DREAMS.

Shut fast from desecrating steps it lies

Deep in the heart of night, unearthly sweet—
This dusk-walled garden, where on winged feet

Lost loves, forgotten fancies, shadowwise
Pass one by one before our yearning eyes.

And in remembered cadences repeat

Long silenced songs, while quickened pulse beats
Once more the strain that age and doubt defies.

Again the olden wonder lays its spell
Upon the world, the roses breathe delight.

The nightingale laments the hours swift flight,
Till clear and faint as some far silver bell

The wind of dawn pipes all the dreams away

And wakes us to reality and day.
—Charlotte Becker.

THE DAIRY INDUSTRY.

DR. DAVID ROBERTS, a well known veterinarian of Wisconsin, says the paying production of milk is what determines the value of the dairy cow and in order to obtain good paying results, proper care and attention must be given the cow which supplies the milk. Cleanliness is perhaps the first important factor to be considered and should be considered from all standpoints.

The stables wherein the animals are housed should be well taken care of, in fact so well taken care of that the attendant who enters at the time of milking shall find no disagreeable odor, no damp floors, no dusty feed, as all feed has a tendency to give rise to dust should be carefully sprinkled before feeding the animal; allowing the animal plenty of fresh air and sunlight.

The cleanliness should not be limited to any one source but should be an important factor from all standpoints. The milker should use utmost care, seeing that the garments as well as the hands are in a nice, clean condition and exercising judgment in the care of the animal to be milked, seeing that all the milking utensils are well taken care of and the milk placed where it will have access to proper cooling conditions and in this way add to the profit of the product.

The dairy cow is either a money maker or a money loser. If she is in a good, healthy condition and her milk supply profits counteract her actual expense of keeping, but, on the other hand, should she consume more food than her profits warrant, get rid of her as there are too many profit producers to be obtained to waste time experimenting, nevertheless it should be remembered that when an animal supplies products beyond the necessary amount for sustaining life it should be fed accordingly producers to be obtained to create vitality in order that it may give in return profits due the owner. —Pacific Homestead.

For indigestion and all stomach trouble take Foley's Orino Laxative, as it stimulates the stomach and liver and regulates the bowels and will positively cure habitual constipation.—RED CROSS PHARMACY, (John Preuss, Prop.)

WHY NOT STOP THAT ITCH?
Indisputable proof has now been found that eczema can be cured—not in one or two cases, but in the worst cases of many years standing.

We would, of course, not think of making such a recommendation to our neighbors and patrons, were it not that years and years of success with D. D. D. Prescription enable us to speak of this remedy with confidence. It is a gentle, soothing wash with a mild oil of wintergreen as a base. All the cures seem to be permanent; at any rate, a trial bottle at 25 cents will take away the itch at once—Instantly. We are sure of this. Red Cross Drug Co.

CURED HAY FEVER

AND SUMMER COLD
A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered two or three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business, I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success."—Red Cross Pharmacy, (John Preuss, Prop.)
