OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF MARSHFIELD.

PRIMARY OR "ASSEMBLY."

JUDGE COKE has announced his candidacy for re-election and will go directly before the voters of the county in the Republican primaries without any indorsement or recognition or suggestion from the so-called "assembly." Judge Coke, it is generally admitted, has made an excellent record on the bench and has won the approval of laymen litigants as well as lawyers. The Times believes, furthermore, that in going directly to the people thus fully recognizing the spirit, as well as the letter of the direct primary law, Judge Coke has made a move that a large majority of the Republican voters will approve.

The "assembly" has been developed sufficiently in Coos county to prove that it is a mere revival of the old caucus and convention system. Its general acceptance would mean a return to the delegate convention, placing a ticket in the field, just as was done in the days before the primary law was enacted, and if the tickets so nominated throughout the State are endorsed by the voters, it means that the old plan will have been restored, no matter whether the primary law is actually repealed, or is allowed to enumber the statute books as a dead letter measure.

The rank and file of the Republicans of Coos county are strong in the opinion that the direct primary has proven its usefulness and value to the voters. The people are not yet ready to surrender the right they have acquired to name their own candidates for office. They know that the primary has been successful in other States as well as Oregon; that it has not destroyed party organization, but has rather purified it of bossism, and this knowledge is backed by the belief of the plain people of Oregon that they are fully capable of self government and quite intelligent enough to express their wishes at the polls without first having a delegate convention controlled by political mechanism to select for them the men who are entitled to their suffrages.

Judge Coke may be a politician just the same as those who advocate the "assembly," but he is especially to be commended in that he is willing to go before all the voters of the party and accept their wishes as to candidacy for office without the endorsement or suggestion of the machine. Politics will be a more useful vocation, and the holding of office imply greater honor when those selected for public positions are chosen by the people and not through the manipulation of conventions and conferences made up of delegates chosen by precinct caucuses in which few of the voters have actually participated.

OUR INDEPENDENCE.

AS A PEOPLE, we are growing away from the old idea of the Fourth of July. Yesterday's observations on Coos Bay marked a milestone in the transition period. The anniversary is losing none of its noble inspiration nor aptitude for observance, but the sentiment of the land is changing and requires something else than the old, cheap, bombastic, uproarious wing flapping, raucous and silly tumult we were used to as youngsters. The sentiments of honor and joy and gratitude for the wonderful values of the day, were all in pristine array and sound establishment in the hearts of the people. Nothing can disturb or belittle them; but their expression is changing. A new dignity is attaching to the day, and a new type of memorialization is being forged.

This is but one more phase of the swift progress of the day. It works no disadvantage, and must contribute to the elevation of the anniversary rather than to its neglect or abandonment. To purge the sentiment of patriotism to a point where it will yield something else than empty noise and useless cost, along with a myriad of accidents and an appalling death-roll, is well in line with the up-lift program the nation is setting itself; and the overture will relieve us of the charge of "kiddishness" in this the 135th year of our constitutional manhood.

Time, nor circumstance, shall ever touch or qualify the loyal love of our people for the day. We shall always be faithful to it. And that we are giving it a truer and better significance by happier and wholesomer methods of testimonial, is to the immense credit of the people and the higher honor of their dearest ideal.

WHY NOT STOP THAT ITCH?

Indisputable proof has now been found that eczema can be cured—not in one or two cases, but in the worst cases of many years standing.

We would, of course, not think of making such a recommendation to our neighbors and patrons, were it not that years and years of success with D. D. D. Prescription enable us to speak of this remedy with confidence. It is a gentle, soothing wash with a mild oil of wintergreen as a base. All the cures seem to be permanent; at any rate, a trial bottle at 25 cents will take away the itch at once—instantly. We are sure of this. Red Cross Drug Co.

CURED HAY FEVER

AND SUMMER COLD. A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered two or three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business, I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success."—Red Cross Pharmacy, (John Preuss, Prop.)
