UNCLE SAM IS AFTER PAPERS

The Postoffice Department Is Checking Books of Publishers and Some Face Penalty.

It is a dangerous business for a newspaper publisher to send his paper to subscribers who are more than a few months in arrears. To be deprived of the second-class mailing privilege, which is the penalty for non-compliance with the rulings, puts a newspaper out of business, for the expense of putting a one-cent stamp on every paper mailed amounts to much more than the profits on the entire subscription business, to say nothing of the increased amount of labor which would be required in affixing the stamps. The Times has a few subscribers in arrears, and these are most respectfully invited to walk up to the office and liquidate. There's a reason.

Special agents of the postoffice department are traveling around over the country dropping into newspaper offices when least expected to examine subscription lists, to ascertain if the regulation requiring payment of subscriptions is being observed. Several newspapers have been in trouble with in the past fortnight. One publisher in Iowa has been called to the national capital because his subscription list is not as well paid up as the law requires. He will have to explain to the government officials why he has not compelled his subscribers to pay up according to the postal rules. An inspector had visited him two months previously and his list was said to be pretty thoroughly paid up, but evidently it was not sufficiently so.

It seems a little tough that country editors have to be hauled up before the government under the charge of violating federal laws just because they do not eternally keep dunning their subscribers for the small sum they owe on subscriptions, but it is like the end of the world, no one knows when it cometh, and no editor knows what day an inspector may pop in and ask to see his list. And if too many subscribers are behind on their paper it means trouble with the government. It puts an editor in such shape that he is compelled to force his collections unless he has an unusually prompt paying list of subscribers.

Another publication, The Bee of Jefferson, Minnesota, has likewise been called upon the carpet, and its publisher has this to say about it: "The Bee this morning received its first official summons from the post-office department to conform with the ruling which requires subscribers to keep their subscriptions paid up. We can no longer send the paper to delinquents, no matter how willing we may be to accommodate them. We sometimes question the right of Uncle Sam to interfere in the conduct of a legitimate business, and say we shall not extend credit if we wish to, but whether right or wrong, we must conform to the regulation. It will distress us greatly to cut off a lot of good and long time patrons who we know intend to pay, but are careless about the matter, and if such really want the Bee we know they will come to our assistance and relieve us from this embarrassment."

TAX QUESTION IS TAKEN UP

Coos County Association Formed to Remedy Alleged Evils in Assessments.

W. J. Conrad, who for the past several years has been connected with the C. A. Smith Timber Company, has resigned to accept a position as secretary and treasurer of the Coos County Tax Association which has just been organized. Mr. Conrad will assume his new position September 1st, when the association will open offices in the Flanagan & Bennett Bank building.

Concerning the organization and its plans and purposes, Mr. Conrad to-day made the following statement:

"For some time past owners of unimproved lands in this county have been very much dissatisfied with the tax rates and variations which have been and are now in force and have felt the necessity for a general equalization of taxes on their lands. A meeting was recently held by a large number of these land owners, at which time the Coos County Tax Association was organized. The object of this association will be to prevent excessive tax valuations on unimproved lands, illegal and extravagant appropriations and the levying of exorbitant tax rates. Its membership already embraces some 400,000 acres and includes many local and non-resident land owners.

"The members of this association contend that a very small valuation should be put on unimproved lands, in view of the fact that they yield no revenue and are only a source of expense until such a time as an income is derived from them. A number of the members of this association are owners of timber lands, who, in addition to paying what they consider an exorbitant tax are obliged to go to considerable expense each year in order to protect their timber from fire. The Coos County Fire Patrol Association has recently been organized for this purpose, which association is expending considerable money for the purpose of protecting the timber of Coos county, and the county will naturally be greatly benefited by this work.

"It is the purpose of this tax association to work in harmony with the different county officials and endeavor to render all assistance possible looking toward a fair and equitable tax on unimproved lands."

A meeting of the board of directors has been called for Thursday, August 18th, when tax matters in general will be discussed and plans perfected for carrying on the work of the organization.

CURRY COUNTY NEWS.

Notes of the Gold Beach People Taken From The Globe.

Excavation for the vault and concrete foundation for the bank building was commenced last week.

Mrs. Geo. W. Smith is enjoying a visit with her father, J. P. Russell of Langlois.

C. L. Wakeman and Steve Merrill now have the frame of D. M. Moore's new cottage well under way of construction.

Delmar Colegrove and Ed. Van Pelt passed through town with a small drove of young cattle.

Geo. D. Wood, cashier of the Curry County Bank, has arranged for his family to join him here in the near future.

Since the purchase of the donkey engine, it is said that saw logs are coming into the Smith mill at Pistol River in a business-like manner.

While out hunting last week Alf. Gauntlett had the misfortune to lose one of his horses. The animal was tied up and in some manner got the shoe on one hind foot caught in the rope and was choked to death when found.

Joe Knight passed through town Saturday evening with about five hundred head of mutton sheep, purchased from the Mountain Ranch country. About two thousand head more were turned into the band from the north side of the river.

The teachers of Curry county are certainly deserving of much credit in attending the Institute of 1910. Every teacher in the county is present and taking part except Miss Sylvia Miller, who we understand has decided to quit teaching.
