ball park during an interval between innings. Bert Addis made the ascension and parachute drop. The balloon went up nicely from the ball grounds and floated over the city and the parachute dropped near the Porter mill and the man landed in the water. He had on a life preserver and a boat was ready to pick him up so he was no worse off for dropping into the bay.

AL NEIL AND JESS DAY GO

John Herron Says Saturday Night's Bout Will Be Best Ever.

"Unless I am badly mistaken, the go between Al. Neil and Jess Day Saturday night will be one of the best we have ever had on the Bay," remarked John Herron, who is promoting the twenty-round match which is to take place at the Marshfield Skating Rink to-morrow night. "Both are in fine condition and Day has improved greatly since they met last. Take it straight, you will see something good."

Neil and Day each express confidence of winning, and the fans are lining up pretty evenly. Neil, of course, has many warm friends on the Bay on account of his fairness in previous matches here.

Some good preliminaries are also being put on. Tickets are going fast, most of the reserved seats being taken. They are on sale at the Bell Cord saloon, general admission being $2 and reserved seats $3.
