Light as a Feather

That's what you like to hear them say when they taste your bread and biscuits. Some times they are not as light and tasty as you would wish for. It isn't your fault. It's the flour you use, probably. Your baking will always be successful with Snow Drift Flour. It isn't a bleached flour. It's made from selected Northwestern grown Blue Stem Wheat. One sack from your grocer will convince you.

TO PUT BAN ON FLIES HERE

City Health Officer MINGUS and Council to Try to Eliminate Insect.

If an ordinance proposed by Dr. E. Mings and read for the last time by the city council last night becomes effective, grocers, butchers, horse owners and all housewives will be enlisted in strenuous campaign for the elimination of the house fly. The ordinance calls attention to the menace of flies to health and sets forth regulations of the feeding and breeding grounds of the little winged miscreants that it is believed will greatly lessen their harm.

The ordinance provides that all perishable foods, including vegetables, fruits, meats, etc., in stores shall be encased in a fly proof box made of either glass, wood or wire netting. Also that housewives must keep sturn where flies cannot reach it and burn or destroy refuse from the kitchen.

One provision that probably kept the council from enacting the ordinance last night provided stringent regulations for barns and stables where horses and cattle are kept. Walter Condron thought it would work too great a hardship on horse owners to have their barns equipped with screen doors and windows and kept as clean as the ordinance required.

Councilman Albrecht thought that chickens and poultry should be subject to the same regulations as horses and cattle.

After some little discussion, Councilman Hennessey suggested the ordinance be tabled until the matter could be investigated further.

LOCAL FIRES ARE ALL OUT

McDonald-Vaughan Camp Will Be Ready to Operate in Two Weeks.

Men who have been out fighting fire in different parts of the county are returning to the city. They all report that but little damage was done to the timber. The only loss was to the McDonald-Vaughan logging camp at Daniels Creek. The logging operations will be stopped for a time as one of the camps was wiped out entirely and much of the railroad trestle was burned. The crew of men is still retained and will be used to help the carpenters rebuild. It is expected that everything will be in readiness to get out logs again within about two weeks. The loss by the company is considerable. The fires throughout the county are practically all out.

North Bend News

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams of Ten Mile were North Bend visitors yesterday, Mrs. Adams coming for medical advice.

Victor Wittick is having quite a serious time with his finger which was amputated some time ago.

Miss Anna Clinkenbeard of Coos River visited friends here Tuesday.

The schooner Churchill, which came in here from Chilli for supplies, left Tuesday for Gray's Harbor.

Sig. Hansen, who is bookkeeper and timekeeper at Pierce's camp, moved his family there yesterday.

Percy Pratt had a piece of his finger cut off at the North Bend mill.

Miss Madge Savage was the guest Tuesday of her aunt Mrs. Everett.

Mrs. John Freeland, Clifford and little daughter, Mildred, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Freeland's mother, Mrs. Peterson, on Coos River.

ARE VISITING THE LODGES

Officers of the Odd Fellows in County on Official Business.

Thomas F. Ryan, grand master of the Odd Fellows of Oregon, and L. Wimberly, grand patriarch, are in the city making official visits. Mr. Ryan is visiting the lodges and Mr. Wimberly is visiting the encampments. Mr. Wimberly is editor of the Roseburg Review.

There are six lodges in the county and the officials will visit one lodge every night this week. Last night they met with the lodge and encampment of Marshfield and later in the evening the members of the Daughters of Rebekah met with the others and a banquet was served. To-night there will be a meeting at North Bend and to-morrow the officials will go to Coquille to meet with the lodges of that place. The Myrtle Point and Bandon lodges will also be visited. The organizations in this county are all in good condition.
