AN OLD SONG REJUVENATED.

I cannot wear the old hair I wore some months gone by.
I've laid it on the topmost shelf With many a weary sigh.
No longer are they wearing puffs,
And rats are quite de trop;
I cannot wear the old hair—
Oh, what a cruel blow!

I cannot wear the old hair
For which good gold I paid.
Red hair is so expensive when One gets the proper shade.
I felt so dressed when it was coiffed.
All little puffs and curls;
But I can't wear the old hair.
Alas for Fashion's whirls!

I cannot wear the old hair.
Four switches I must buy And wind them round and round my head
As flat as they will lie.
My face is far too plump for this;
My nose is much too long;
But I can't wear the old hair.
It's altogether wrong.
—Lippincott's Magazine.

“And sometimes, when the moon was red, Came two young lovers newly wed, 'I'm half sick of shadows,' said the Lady of Shalott.”

DO YOU KNOW the story of the poor, hapless Lady of Shalott, who was forced to look at life through the medium of a looking glass?

She sat with her back to a window and watched the world pass by in the mirror, says Beatrice Fairfax. There was a spell on her, which decreed that the moment she looked out of the window her life would end.

She was content with her looking glass view of life in all save where love was concerned.

When lovers passed, the Lady of Shalott felt faint longings for something better than she had known; but she never looked out of the window.

Then, one day, the shadow of the beautiful Knight Sir Lancelot flashed into the mirror.

Alas for the Lady of Shalott! Entranced by the vision, she turned and looked out of the window, and the curse fell upon her. She had been able to withstand every temptation to look until she fell in love.

Don't be content with the shadow of anything if you can have the reality. It is amazing to see the number of people who are content with the shadow of love.

Either they have never had real love or they have worn it to a shadow.
Nothing so quickly dulls love as the commonplace.

A woman allows her husband to see her in unattractive surroundings.
She wears dowdy, ugly wrappers and screws her hair into a tight, unbecoming knot. After awhile, she begins to complain that her husband no longer loves her.

Men are very human, and he probably has discovered that some other woman takes more pains to please him than his wife does.

The neglected husband or wife will always find a ready sympathizer; you may be very sure of that.

The love that wears to a shadow is usually love that has been founded by the senses, not by the heart.

Unless there be congeniality and companionship, love cannot last.
Many a woman loses her husband simply because she has an overdeveloped idea of her maternal duties.

She spends so much time worrying and fussing over her babies that she grows away from their father.
He comes home tired from his day's work and looking forward to a pleasant evening. But he is not allowed to speak above a whisper and his wife can think of nothing but the children.

Is it any wonder that eventually he begins to spend his evenings elsewhere?

The girls who put off marrying until so late that they have to be content with anything they can get, ar-choosing the shadow of love instead of the substance.

Such a girl refuses the man she loves because he is poor, and ends by marrying a man who is better off, but whom she never can really love.
“I could love that man, but people would think it so queer if I married him.” I once heard a girl say. The man stuttered, and, simply because of what others might think, the girl refused him.

When a chance for real love comes your way, take it; don't wait for a shadow.

Mrs. William Grimes gave a bridge party Tuesday afternoon at her home.
It was in honor of Mrs. J. L. House-worth of Oklahoma, who has been visiting in the city. The first prize was won by Mrs. M. H. Bliven and the second prize by Mrs. Eugene Crosthwaite.
A special prize was won by Mrs. Sarah E. Painter. After the card game, refreshments were served.
The guests included the following:

Sarah E. Painter and Charles Van Duyn.

Mrs. B. M. Richardson, who has been in the city visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Connell, left on the Breakwater for Portland.
She was accompanied by her little daughter.

Mayor Simpson of North Bend was tendered a birthday dinner at the Chandler Hotel on the evening of September 1st. The grill room, which was used for the occasion, was tastefully decorated and a most enjoyable time was had. Those present were Mesdames Simpson, Winsor and Smith and Messrs. Simpson, Winsor, Roach and Smith. Mr. Simpson was the recipient of a number of handsome remembrances.

Miss Jessie Chase and Miss Elizabeth Kaufman, who have been in California, will be home to-morrow on the M. F. Plant.

Mrs. E. G. Perham gave a bridge luncheon Thursday afternoon at her home, 1369 Central avenue. A large number of ladies were present and Ben Chandler, who has been spending the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Chandler, at their bungalow on Coos River, left to-day on the steamer Breakwater for Portland and from there will go to Eugene to resume his studies at the University of Oregon.

William Ford of San Francisco and Miss Stella O'Connell were married Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Connell at Kittyville.
The ceremony was performed by Rev.
Father Gallagher. Only the relatives were present. The bride wore an elaborate gown of Irish crochet and veil with orange blossoms in a coronet and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. After the ceremony there was a dinner and the bridal cake was cut. Mr. and Mrs.
Ford left on the steamer M. F. Plant for San Francisco. For two weeks they will be at the Hotel Manx in that city before going to housekeeping.

At her home in Porter Thursday afternoon, Mrs. R. A. Wernich gave a party in honor of Miss Anne Flanagan.

CANDY

For Fastidious
Folks

Our toothsome home-made candies are a revelation to the candy lover.
They are so rich, so temptingly good, and so delicately flavored that once eaten they are never forgotten.

They are absolutely pure; therefore good for little folks as well as big folks. “Stafford's” chocolates are the purest and best of chocolate coated confections. They have NOT just arrived from San Francisco or any other town, but are made fresh daily in our own little candy shop by expert candy makers. They know how. Lots of new drinks and dishes at our fountain.
