BEAR THIS IN MIND.

THE GOOD LORD gave Coos Bay everything conceivable in the way of a great and perfect harbor. We shall be making mighty poor use of it if we fail to protect, maintain and develop it as an organic port under the law!

MORALS OF MEN AND MUNICIPALITIES.

A VERY HONEST CITIZEN of Marshfield, and there are many of them, should and will commend and compliment Councilman A. H. Powers for the manly and courageous stand he took at the council meeting the other night in the matter of the stories of alleged graft that are being booted about the town. If false these scandalous stories should have a quietus placed upon them by being stuffed down the lying throats of the low and loathesome creatures who utter them. If true, then let us have such a searching investigation as will forever purge us of the moral turpitude involved in their development.

No matter upon what level we find ourselves in this life it is well to remember the degree below us, it is a saving phase we are likely to appreciate.

Cities, like men, find their levels in trade and civic standards and moral attitudes; and they find the lower, because of their persistent refusal to recognize and reach for the higher; and this makes it essential that they should remember, and shun, the degree below. City and man can sink to a common depth and yet live. It is only when they reach the final gulf, the last degree below, that they disappear and are forgotten.

There is an infinite mutuality between cities and their builders and maintainers; and the type, title and temperament of the latter are fixed, indelibly, upon the former. Nor will the physical endowment, however rich and lavish and beautiful, for an instant qualify or even partially obliterate, the shameful signs and signals set up to a city's disgrace and undoing.

It is difficult to determine the difference in the degree of moral turpitude between the greedy grafter and the sneaking scandal monger. Both are moral degenerates of a type that drag their associates and their cities to the degree below.

It is easy to understand that Pittsburg is morally banned; that her business and commerce, generally, must suffer from the onus that lies upon her. One realizes the instant he sets foot in Seattle, just what the "Seattle Spirit" stands for, the grasping, over-riding, the get-rich-quick-any-old-way idea that marks her people as with a brand and is doing her no good. The story of San Francisco's shame and the low levels to which she was forced is too fresh and foul to be repeated here.

Marshfield has sprung up and forward in the past few years, to better levels and points than she aspired to for years and she is making good, slowly perhaps, but making good all the same. There are those who would thrust her back to the level below and keep her there, but we opt for their task is harder and more thankless as time goes on. The time in the past when any sop or story may be thrown to this people for their spot swallowing. She is cognizant of the level below and the level above, and her trend and hope are upward. Make a note of this.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Thursday evening a party was given for Alva Grout at his home in North Bend. It was arranged by his friends as a farewell as he is leaving to-day for Portland and will go to Eugene to attend the State university. The affair was a candy pull and those in attendance enjoyed a splendid evening. The guests were Misses Helen Mende, Marion Hevener, Amy Reynolds, Edith Alger, Ethel Metzler and Nora Hague, and Messrs. Jay Gray, Marion Reynolds, William Wood, Archie Taylor and Ben Grout.

Mayor and Mrs. L. J. Simpson of North Bend, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pike of San Francisco, have gone to Shore Acres, Mr. Simpson's country place, for a visit.

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Houseworth gave a whist party Monday night for Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Houseworth. The prizes were won by Mrs. Van Duyn and Ferd. Painter. The guests included the following: F. M. Parsons, C. R. Peck, Eugene Crosthwaite, E. F. Morrissey, William Grimes, Charles Van Duyn, A. T. Haines, W. E. Warwick, and Dorsey Kretzer, and their wives, Mrs. Effie Farringer, Miss Maude Painter, Thayer Grimes, Arthur Peck, Otto Morrissey and Ferd. Painter.

The social given by the ladies of the M. E. Church at Loggie's Hall in North Bend last evening was a success, both socially and financially. As the result of the "white elephant" auction and the sale of the sandwiches and coffee, they cleared the sum of $17.20. Attorney A. H. Derbyshire as auctioneer proved a grand success and did much towards the evening's entertainment. The numbers on the musical program, both instrumental and vocal, were all of exceptional merit and were highly appreciated. "Choosing a Minister," a reading by Mrs. Elsie McKellips, showed what is expected of a minister. After the program and auction there was a general social time, which all enjoyed till a late hour.

Last Tuesday, Mrs. J. R. Smith gave a pink and white luncheon complimentary to Miss Anne Flanagan, a bride-elect, at the beautiful Smith home in North Bend. Beautiful pink and white roses predominated in the flower scheme. A wedding bell of pink and white roses suspended over the luncheon table added a pretty touch to the decorations. The favors were dainty slippers filled with rice. It was one of the prettiest luncheons of the season. Among her guests were Mrs. C. F. McCollum, Mrs. T. H. Barry, Misses Minnie and Grace Sheridan and Miss Flanagan.

Last evening, a delightful dancing party was tendered by the Millicoma Club to the members and their lady friends. Between thirty and forty couples were in attendance. The club was prettily decorated for the occasion. It is planned to give a number of dancing and card parties there during the fall and winter months.

Miss Hattie Hague, Miss Catherine Mende, Miss Ida B. Mitchell and Henry Mende have gone to Miss Mitchell's home near Allegany for an outing.

A large number of the members of the church and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Russell attended the reception given by the Ladies' Aid Society of North Bend Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. For an hour they enjoyed themselves in conversation. At nine, a brief but very interesting programme was given. The first number was a piano solo by Miss Kranic. Miss Grace Williams then sang a very pretty song, "Tatters." She was accompanied by Miss Gurnea. Miss Blanche Williams recited "God Bless the Parson Who Took the Beans," a short but laughable poem. Mr. Pierson followed with the song, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." Upon being recalled sang "The King of the Deep Am I." Mrs. L. C. Reynolds was accompanist. The last number was a pretty piano solo by Miss Gurnea. Upon request of the president of the Ladies' Aid, Messrs. Balsiger, Davenport and Gubser made a few remarks in appreciation of their work in the church and regrets of Mr. and Mrs. Russell leaving us. Mrs. Russell was presented by Mrs. Nellson in behalf of the Aid Society with a small hand-painted plate. At

Keep Your Feet Dry And Make Life's Walk EASY

At last I have secured something that every man in Coos county has been desirous of securing—a waterproof, cushion soled shoe. They are guaranteed by the maker and by me. They are the famous PNEUMATIC SOLED SHOES, and are made by Sharrod Shoe Corporation of St. Paul. They just arrived on the last boat, a complete line of all sizes and several styles. They are a little bit the finest thing have ever had to offer, and are something that Coos Bay men should rejoice at being able to secure. The price is the same as you would have to pay if you bought in St. Paul, the maker stamping it on the sole of each shoe.

And while we are talking about shoes, I wish you would drop in and see the many other good ones that I carry in stock—dress shoes, every day shoes and loggers' shoes.

Remember this when you or any of your family need shoe repairing, because by patronizing Lund you are not only saving money but you are encouraging a good industry for Coos Bay.
