BODY FOUND IN THE RIVER LEADS TO BELIEF OF MURDER

Police Think Remains Those of Emil J. Kees of Pocatello, Idaho.

MAY HAVE BEEN ROBBED AND KILLED.

What Is Missing and No Valuables Were Found on Body.

(By Associated Press.) PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 16.—The body of a man supposed to be Emil J. Kees of Pocatello, Idaho, was recovered from the river several days ago and the detectives who have been working on the case believe the man was murdered. Inquiry along the river revealed the fact that about two weeks ago two men hired a boat for a trip on the river. Several hours later it was returned by one man. He was identified as the whereabouts of the companion and replied that he fell overboard and was drowned, but as the statement caused some excitement among those present he stated he was only joking and that his companion had left the boat at a point further up the river. The police now believe that the missing man was Kees and that he was taken out on the river and murdered and robbed. His coat was missing and nothing of value was found on his person. A letter addressed to Emil J. Kees, dated Edwardsburg, Mich., signed "Royal," and addressed to Pocatello, was found.

PUSHING PLAN FOR BOULEVARD

Mayor Straw Presents the Matter to Local Representatives of Southern Pacific.

Mayor E. E. Straw is pushing the plan to make a boulevard from Marshfield to the ocean. The following letter which the Mayor has written to C. J. Mills, general manager of the local interests of the Southern Pacific, and the reply thereto in regard to the plan are given below: MARSHFIELD, Ore., Sept. 9, 1910. C. J. MILLS, Vice-President and General Manager of C. B. R. & E. R. R. & N. Co., Marshfield, Ore.: Dear Sir: The substantial citizens of Marshfield feel that it would be well at this time to take steps looking toward the acquisition of property for city park purposes. The property now owned by the city, which is available for park purposes is very small and will not afford sufficient room to accommodate a larger population. Discussing this problem with the citizens of Marshfield, I have found a popular feeling manifested in the question which shows that such commodious park grounds are greatly desired, and it has been well suggested that the city should secure a strip of land 350 feet wide extending from the old cemetery in Marshfield westward in a straight line to the water front near Tar Heel Point below Empire.

This tract of land is covered with all of the native growths of this part of the State, and being crossed in places with flowing streams could be made very attractive. In the event that the city of Marshfield should agree to build and maintain a plank or hard surface roadway throughout the entire length of this strip of land, upon what terms could the city secure that part of the tract now owned by you?

It might be argued that 350 feet is too wide a roadway, but in this case such is not true. On account of the uneven character of the surface, allowance will have to be made for grades and the winding contour of a roadway. Furthermore, it is necessary to have this much land in order to make an attractive park.

I am inclosing you a map showing in red ink lines the area covered by the proposed park grounds and boulevard. I would thank you to give this matter your careful consideration and let me know at your earliest convenience whether it meets with your favor and upon what terms you are inclined to take the matter up with the city. Yours respectfully, E. E. STRAW.

MARSHFIELD, Sept. 10, 1910. DR. E. E. STRAW, Mayor of the City of Marshfield, Marshfield, Ore.:

Dear Sir: Your favor of Sept. 9th is before me. I approve of the suggestion that the matter of a city park receive early consideration. I am of the opinion, however, that it would be difficult to secure a strip of land 350 feet wide extending from the old cemetery to the water front near Tar Heel Point, although a narrower strip might be provided without serious difficulty.

I do not know just how the Central Pacific people would feel with reference to this matter, but should you succeed in securing the property from other holders I believe my recommendation would be to donate land through their holdings, provided same

HUMPHREY IS IN THE LEAD

But Law on Marking Second Choice May Cause a Contest.

(By Associated Press.) SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 16.—Unofficial and incomplete returns from the First Congressional District show that William E. Humphrey, standpat Republican, received 433 votes more than necessary for the forty per cent total vote, besides getting a large plurality of the vote. Later returns may take away this advantage, but probably will not. The provision in the State primary law which requires electors to mark their second choice votes when the candidates number four or more, gives opportunity to contest the nomination. Apparently thousands of voters, chiefly Humphrey men, did not mark the second choice and the ballots were not thrown out. Thomas P. Revelle, insurgent, declares that he will contest the nomination by all legal means.

INSPECTORS ARRIVE HERE

Edwards and Fuller Will Inspect Vessels on Bay and Coquille River.

Edwards and Fuller, the United States inspectors of hulls and boilers, are here from Portland. They arrived yesterday afternoon and are on their way to the Coquille River but will return to Coos Bay. They will inspect quite a number of vessels. Regarding their trip to this locality the Portland Oregonian says:

United States Inspectors Edwards and Fuller will leave for Coos Bay to make a re-inspection of all the vessels in that part of the district, and they expect to be absent a week or ten days. On their return they will finish the work of the same nature at Astoria and on the Upper Columbia River and its tributaries. They estimate it will take until November 1 to cover the district.

The inspectors say there are in the neighborhood of fifty vessels subject to inspection at Coos Bay. Before returning to Portland they will inspect the steamers plying on the Coquille, the Umpqua and other waters in that section. After completing the same character of work at Astoria and other points down the river, the inspectors will proceed to the Upper Columbia.
