

FATALLY INJURED IN A RACE

Robert Dean of Norway Was Thrown From a Horse and Striking a Post Suffers Fracture of the Skull.

Robert Dean of Norway was seriously and probably fatally hurt Sunday by being thrown from a horse. He was riding a horse and was racing with some others and attempted to make a turn. The horse turned against a post. He struck on the side of his head and the skull was fractured.

Dr. Stemmler brought the injured man to Marshfield on the noon train and took him to the Home Hospital. The accident happened at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and Dean never regained consciousness. An operation will be performed and an attempt made to raise the broken skull. Mr. Dean is 27 years old and has a wife and two children at Norway.

JOHN MANNING CASE CALLED

Defendant From Beaver Hill But Name Same As Two Other Men.

Not John Manning, "king of Dredger Island" and well known here, and not John Manning, former district attorney of Multnomah county, but John Manning the Third, of Beaver Hill fame, is the man whose trial for larceny was taken up in the Circuit Court this morning. His name is the same as the other John Mannings mentioned.

It is alleged that the defendant stole some jewelry and valuables from a house at Beaver Hill some time ago. The case came up this morning before Judge Coke. After the Manning case, will be taken up the trial of A. H. Powers charged with killing fish. Mr. Powers used dynamite for blowing up a piling and it is alleged that he killed fish and should not have used the dynamite without a permit from the county court, while Mr. Powers claims that he has a federal permit which is sufficient.

Cordes Not Guilty.

R. C. Cordes has been advised that Judge Coke has dismissed the true bill returned against him by the Grand Jury on the charge of unlawfully having ducks in his possession when Jay Tower was fined a few months ago for killing ducks out of season at the Sand Hills. Judge Coke held that Mr. Cordes merely had the ducks in his "custody" instead of in his "possession," and that the Grand Jury had been erroneously advised concerning the interpretation of the law, according to the advice received from Coquille by Mr. Cordes. The arrests of Messrs. Tower and Cordes were made by Deputy Game Warden Noah, and Mr. Tower pleaded guilty before Justice Pennock while Mr. Cordes' case was carried before the Grand Jury.

A STORY OF BLUCHER.

The Old General Gave His Son a Lesson in Gaming.

Speaking of military men who were gamblers, Ralph Nevill in "Light Come, Light Go," after noting that Napoleon only played in an amateur way and never seriously and that the Duke of Wellington, while a member of Crookford's famous gambling club, was not particularly fond of play, goes on to relate the following about Blucher:

Another great soldier, on the other hand, repeatedly lost large sums at play. This was Blucher, who was inordinately fond of gambling. Much to his disgust, this passion was inherited by his son, who had often to be rebuked by his father for his visits to the gaming table and was given many a wholesome lecture upon his youth and inexperience and the consequent certainty of loss by coming in contact with older and more practiced gamblers.

One morning, however, young Blucher presented himself before his father and exclaimed, with an air of joy, "Sir, you said I know nothing of play, but here is proof that you have undervalued my talents," pulling out at the same time a bag of rubles which he had won the preceding night.

"And I said the truth," was the reply. "Sit down here and I'll convince you."

The dice were called for, and in a few minutes old Blucher won all his son's money, whereupon, after pocketing the cash, he rose from the table, observing, "Now you see that I was right when I told you that you would never win."

Ten Mile Lakes Popular Resort

Probably no summer resort in Oregon furnishes more pleasant recreation or good fishing than the Ten Mile lakes of Coos county. The place is attracting much attention throughout the State and many who visited Coos Bay made side trips to the famous fishing grounds. When this locality has a railroad to connect with the outside Ten Mile is sure to be one of the popular resort places of the Pacific Coast.

The lakes have afforded much pleasure for the Coos Bay people and during this summer scores have gone there for their summer vacation. Many have summer homes on the lakes and there are hotels and fine camping places and boats and everything else that goes to make up an enjoyable stay in the woods and on the water.

The trout fishing in the lakes is unsurpassed anywhere in Oregon. There is practically an inexhaustible supply of fine trout and sportsmen who have fished all over the country say that the lakes cannot be beaten. There is also duck shooting there in the season and the woods back of the lakes afford deer, bear and panther hunting. Each year the lakes become more popular as a resort place and this summer more people visited there than ever before. Several new summer cottages were built this year and many more will be erected at the lakes next year.

BUILDING IS NOT SANITARY

City Officials Find Gow Why Rooming House a Filthy Place.

The city officials made an inspection of the upper stories of the Gow Why building to look into the sanitary conditions of the place. The committee was composed of Mayor Straw, Councilman Coke and Dr. E. Mings, the city health officer. In the upper stories of the building at the corner of Broadway and Commercial avenue there are living rooms which are rented out by Gow Why for lodging. The rents are very cheap and the interior of the building was found to be in bad shape.

Dr. Mings says that the rooms are poorly ventilated and that the building is dirty and filthy and that it is not fit for human habitation. The plumbing is in bad shape and the ordinance is violated by the manner in which stove pipes are connected and extended through partitions. Dr. Mings says that the whole building should be condemned as a place of abode, but there is no ordinance now which will permit of the building being condemned as a whole. The doctor says there should be an ordinance which will permit the city to cause such a rooming place to be vacated, and it is a menace to health and absolutely unsanitary for those who live in the place. About thirty people live in the place.

While the committee was going through the building the officials ran into one room which turned out to be a Chinese church. Gow Why and his family attended services there twice every day. The church is provided with all of the necessary Chinese idols, decorations and incense. The city council will probably take some steps toward changing the conditions in the building.
